Algeria Accuses Morocco

Two Questioned In Ala. Bombings

White Men Held Without Charge At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Two white men were held in jail without charge Monday in connection with unspecified bombings in this city where a church blast two two weeks ago killed four Negro girls.

Whether charges would be placed against the men the state safety director, Col. Albert J. Lingo, would not say. His agents made the arrests Sunday night to the surprise of local authorities.

"We're not through yet," said Lingo, personally directing a state investigation independent of local and federal officers who launched an intensive probe after the Sept. 15 church bombing.

The men were identified by Lingo as R. E. Chambliss, 59, and Charles Cagle, 22, both of the Birmingham area. Both men have been active in anti-integration activities.

Statement Promised

Chambliss and Cagle faced more grilling by state agents, Lingo said. He would not comment on which bombings were allegedly connected to the two arrests, the first ever made in 43 bombings since World War II.

When asked if the men were being held in connection with any specific bombing, Lingo said: "Bombings." He would not elaborate.

"We'll release a statement later on," Lingo said.

The statement probably will come from Gov. George C. Wallace's office, he said. Lingo gave no indication when the statement might come.

An announcement from Wallace's office Sunday night had said arrests were imminent and specified the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church in which the four girls were killed.

Cagle Is Klansman

However, a second statement from Wallace did not mention the church bombing but said only two persons were being held "in connection with the Birmingham bombings."

Chambliss, a mechanic and auto repairman, has a long record of engaging in anti-integration activities, Sheriff Melvin Bailey said.

Cagle is a laborer for a sales and engineering company. He was arrested last June while going to a Ku Klux Klan rally near Tuscaloosa a few days before the University of Alabama was desegregated. State officers identified Cagle as a Klansman and said he was carrying a weapon.

Defense Chief Extends Stay In S. Viet Nam

McNamara Works On Secret Report To White House

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Monday delayed his flight home for 24 hours to work on a secret report to the White House. He is expected to spell out, after a week-long inspection tour, whether internal unrest has hurt the U.S.-supported war against the Communist guerrillas.

McNamara's traveling companion, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, made a final flight into the combat zone and heard U.S. military advisers in the field praised highly by Maj. Gen. Tran Van Don, acting chief of South Viet Nam's general staff.

Buddhist Conflict Probed

The secretary arrived last Tuesday with Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as the eyes and ears of President Kennedy. Among other things they wanted to find out if the crackdown on Buddhists and students recently by President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime had caused enough popular unrest to hamstring the war in the field.

A spokesman said McNamara will leave for Washington Tuesday evening. He will stop in Hawaii to confer with Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief in the Pacific.

If McNamara proposes any change in military operations in Viet Nam, it appeared Don was anxious to show a readiness to cooperate.

U.S. Advisers Praised

Don also seemed to want to clear up any misunderstanding of the role of U.S. military advisers. Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu on a visit to Rome was quoted as referring to some junior U.S. officers as acting like little soldiers of fortune and forcing senior officers to follow a confused policy. This brought a sharp rebuke from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and her backers in Saigon claimed she was misquoted.

"I have had many opportunities to see in combat at the lowest unit level the spirit of close cooperation and sacrifice being made by soldiers of both of our countries," Don told Taylor.

"Many of your advisers have not only advised, but also assisted, in the fight. They even became casualties." So far 59 U.S. servicemen have died in combat and 53 from other causes.

Defy Algerian Government

Backs Revolt, Nation Is Told By Ben Bella

President Charges Hassen's Troops 10 Yards From Border

ALGIERS (AP)—President Ahmed Ben Bella charged Monday night that Morocco has troops poised ten yards from the Algerian border and is backing a Berber uprising aginst this government.

The Algerian Political Bureau called for crowds of Algerians to demonstrate for Ben Bella Tuesday evening.

In a dramatic radio address to the nation Ben Bella said:

"Moroccan soldiers of Moulay Hassan (King Hassan II) are ten meters (about ten yards) from the Algerian frontier.

"We know what it means. We fear nothing. We can defend ourselves. . .

"They (the Moroccans) would like to see our troops concentrate too. . . While our country is being threatened by internal subversion, it is also being attacked from the exterior. . . This operation will not succeed."

There was no immediate reaction from Morocco to Ben Bella's remarks.

While Ben Bella spoke, confusing reports poured into the capital about loyalist and dissident troops moving around in Kabylie, east of Algiers.

Army Units Mutiny

Some Army units were in a state of mutiny in Kabylie following their commander, Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, who was deposed by Bell Bella as chief of the 7th military region. Mohand Ou El Hadj openly proclaimed opposition to Ben Bella.

According to some reports, government troops sent to stem the revolt evacuated some points they had occupied earlier — only to return several hours later.

Small convoys were crossing one another and bewildered officers claimed they knew nothing. There were no clashes between the opposing forces and the number of government troops engaged in the movement did not exceed 1,000.

In his radio speech, Ben Bella charged that Algerian Berber leader Belkacem Krim, one of the authors of the French-Algerian Evian peace treaty, visited Tangier in an effort to obtain Moroccan help.

Sahara Claims Conflict

Morocco and Algeria have been feuding for some time. Morocco claims part of the Sahara held by Algeria. The conservative regime of King Hassan has been hostile to sweeping radical measures adopted by the government of Ben Bella in Algeria.

In the confusion of the Kabylie, Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj left Michelet after being disposed by Ben Bella and took with him dissident parliamentary deputy Hocine Ait Ahmed.

The two men, accompanied by about 50 body guards, drove off in a convoy of small trucks, turning off the main highway into a dirt road climbing high into the mountains.

A unit of government infantry from Constantine in eastern Algeria parked its vehicles outside Michelet. The men stared lazily at the sharp mountain ranges covered with light mist while officers talked to town leaders, all backers of the dissidents.

In nearby Ft. National, apparently abandoned by its locally recruited garrison, a government unit took up positions.

Russell Leads Dixie Assault On Rights Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flood of bitter denunciation of the Civil Rights Commission by Southern members opened Senate debate Monday on a move to give the agency a new one-year lease on life.

The Southerners were led by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who shouted, "Let it die" and said, "This agency has shown a prejudice that disqualifies it."

Other phrases hurled at the commission's proposals by Southerners included "cruel and inhuman," "vicious," "inflammatory and unsound."

The commission itself, in its last legal day of existence, provided the Southerners with new ammunition by making public a whole batch of new civil rights recommendations for Congress and the President, including some tough penalties.

Among them, the commission urged that states which refuse to grant Negro voting rights be penalized by slashing their membership in the House of Representatives.

The Senate is debating strategy of keeping the commission in business by tieing the proposal for a one-year extension onto a completely unrelated bill — thus keeping it from getting lost in committee.

Technically the commission expires at midnight Monday, but it has another 60 days to wind up its affairs. Twice since it was created as a temporary agency in 1957, the commission has been revived on a two-year basis after it expired.

Tomb Of Ancient Indian Uncovered

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—A Wyoming mountain cave has yielded the mummified body of a man that may be nearly 13 centuries old.

The firm-jawed skull is covered with tangled, coarse black hair and most of the teeth are intact. The remains, when unearthed, were clad in the tanned skin of an animal, probably a mountain sheep.

Dr. Harold McCracken, Cody archeologist who directed the excavation, said the man was an Indian who died about 678, or more than eight centuries before Columbus' voyage to America.

Police Arrest 177 Marchers At Orangeburg

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (UPI) — Police broke up another massive anti - segregation demonstration here Monday and arrested 177 Negroes before they reached the downtown area, crowded with whites.

"The situation could very easily have become a full scale riot," Capt. M. W. Whetstone said. "It looks like these people are determined."

The police officer predicted the city's racial situation "is going to get worse before it gets better."

Monday's arrests brought to 761 the number of Negroes, most of them college students, who have been taken into custody in demonstrations here since Saturday. All have been charged with breach of peace. Some of the Negroes were juveniles arrested Saturday and Sunday, released to their parents and then arrested again.

Singing and chanting integration slogans, the demonstrators were crowded into an outdoor compound adjacent to the county jail.

The protest marches stem from a list of demands presented to city officials during the summer by Negro leaders. The demands include desegregation of various public and private facilities, and equal job opportunities and customer practices in stores.

The local Chamber of Commerce recommended formation of a biracial negotiating committee, but whites were unwilling to serve on it.

Ailing Actress Rests In London

LONDON (AP)—Actress Vivien Leigh, prostrate with nervous exhaustion, settled back in her London home Monday after being flown from New York.

A spokesman for her agent reported: "Miss Leigh is extremely tired."

Word of the actress' plight was flashed to London in a radio message from a jetliner flying across the Atlantic.

The message said Miss Leigh, 49, was ill, suffering from exhaustion and needed an ambulance at the airport. On arrival she was lowered on a stretcher from the plane by a mechanical loading rig and driven to the Airport Medical Center.

The collapse came some 36 hours after Miss Leigh's New York show temporarily closed Saturday. Her appearance in the show, "Tovarich," was her first part in a musical and she was called upon to dance in it. The show is being transferred to another theater and is slated ot reopen in a week. To date, the show has had 224 performances.

President Orders Youth Fitness Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy named a cabinet level task force Monday to seek remedies for what he called an ominous rate of rejection of young Americans called up for draft board examinations.

Kennedy said one of three young men does not meet minimum standards for peacetime military service.

Satellite Uses Nuclear Power

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) announced an historic space feat Monday—the first fully operational use of nuclear power in space.

The AEC said it had launched a satellite, fully powered in space by a nuclear generator, from Vandenoerg Air Force Base, Calif., in what was described as "a complete success."

The nuclear device, Snap—9A is a lightweight radioisotope-fueled generator. It is designed to provide 25 watts of direct electrical current for some five years of orbiting the earth. The satellite containing the generator will circle the earth for at least 900 years before plunging out of orbit.

The AEC stressed that the power plant, although operated by nuclear energy, posed no danger to earth inhabitants.

Kennedy Hails World Bank's Expansion Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finance ministers of 100 nations opened discussions Monday on the possibility of putting new gears in the international financial machinery, and they received a word of encouragement from President Kennedy.

Kennedy said he was pleased to learn that studies were about to be launched to measure the need for new or expanded facilities for handling financial transactions between nations.

The President was warmly received by the governing boards of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank as he pledged that the United States would take whatever actions might be necessary to protect the dollar.

The studies, to be conducted both by IMF and a group of 10 industrialized nations, will deal with the problem of international liquidity—the technical term for currency, gold and credit used in settling accounts between countries.

Kennedy told the 700 financial representaitves of the non-Communist world that there is a sharp distinction between the long-term problem of liquidity and "the current problems of international imbalance."

The current problem, from the U.S. view, is this country's persistent deficit in its international balance of payments. Kennedy said the United States is determined to solve this problem "but not at the expense of others."

The balance of payments is the inflow of dollars to this country versus the outgo. The total dollars received from exports and investment is not as great as the amount that leaves the country to pay for imports, foreign aid, investment abroad and the maintenance of military forces overseas.

Nixon Says "Rocky" Implied He'll Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday he has first hand word that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller apparently intends to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

In a sidewalk interview, Nixon said that at a recent meeting Rockefeller "implied he would like my support."

Nixon made it plain he had not committed himself, for or against Rockefeller or anyone else. He said he would support whoever is chosen next year by the GOP convention.

Valachi To Tell Of Gang War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime probers said Monday that Joseph Valachi, the vengeful mobster, will reveal the inside details of bloody gang warfare for power and vengeance when he resumes his testimony Tuesday.

Valachi already has acknowledged in hearings before the Senate Investigations subcommittee that he was a killer for a nationwide crime syndicate known as Cosa Nostra, which he now hopes his testimony will destroy.

He wants to avenge the "kiss of death" he says he received from Vito Genovese, whom he named as Cosa Nostra's "boss of bosses," when he and Genovese were cellmates last year in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee's chairman, and Jerome Adlerman, its counsel, said Valachi will describe a series of New York gangland murders as he saw them from inside as a "soldier" or rank-and-file criminal in Cosa Nostra's ranks.

The Justice Department already had leaked word that Valachi could tell much about gang style murders—the friendly smile and slap on the back before the withering blast of bullets.

Adlerman told a reporter Valachi's story would cover a "gangland war for power and vengeance" dating back to the 1930's which rubbed out Peter Morello as Cosa Nostra's boss of bosses, and installed a secret "commission" to run the outfit in which Valachi says Genovese rose to dominance.

Hurricane Flora Buffets Tobago

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — New-born Hurricane Flora raked the island of Tobago Monday, then aimed 110-mile an hour winds toward the Grenadine Islands amid Weather Bureau warnings to residents to move to the hills "before it is too late."

Torrential rains and storm tides five to seven feet tall were expected. "People in low areas and near beaches should move immediately to higher elevations," said the Weather Bureau at San Juan, P.R.

The Weather Bureau said the hurricane offered no immediate threat to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, but "the people are urged to keep in touch" with advisories.

Hurricane hunter aircraft, located Flora about Monday morning. Until then, no evidence had been reported of anything in the area except a tropical depression with winds of 35 miles an hour.

Achievements Cited By Peking On Birthday Eve

TOKYO (AP)—On the eve of its 14th birthday, Red China asserted Monday it has overcome three years of calamity on the farm and crop production is rising. Industry was pictured as expanding.

An official statement broadcast by Radio Peking seemed to be saying that Red China is doing all right despite its quarrel with Moscow, which has cost important Soviet aid needed for the tattered Chinese economy.

The official New China news agency anniversary statement said Mao Tze-tung's much criticized "great leap forward" and the farm communes had been vindicated. Soviet Premier Khrushchev assailed the communes as a futile attempt to accomplish communism at one bound.

The tenor of the statement indicated a festive Tuesday, when Red Chinese leaders and millions of Chinese assemble in Peking to celebrate the day in 1949 when Mao proclaimed his people's republic.

Ohioan Leaps To Death From Bellaire Bridge

BELLAIRE, Ohio (UPI) —Donald Fleming, 32, Bellaire, a muscular ex-boxer and bridegroom of one week, jumped 210-feet to his death Sunday from the superstructure of the Bellaire bridge over the Ohio River.

Authorities tried to coax him off the steel girders but he told them to "go away" and jumped into 15 feet of water. A spectator swam out to him and brought him in.

Investigators, who said Fleming had bragged that he could jump off the bridge and live, issued no ruling in the death.

McDowell Fined $36

CLEVELAND, Miss. (UPI) — Negro Cleve McDowell, expelled from the University of Mississippi last week, was convicted of two traffic violations Monday night and fined $36.

McDowell was found guilty of speeding, fined $24 for that, and also convicted of driving without lights, which drew him a $12 fine.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish section of an oil pipeline linking East Germany with Russia will be completed this week and oil is expected to start flowing next month, the Polish newspaper Trybuna Ludu said.

JFK Considers Red Wheat Sale Political Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cabinet officials told inquiring senators Monday President Kennedy is weighing the political as well as the economic effects before deciding whether to permit the sale of wheat to Russia at subsidized export prices.

One report has said the Russians have been talking about a deal for three million tons at $250 million.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Allen J. Ellender, D-La., head of the Agriculture Committee, both threw their support behind presidential action. They said that Kennedy has the authority, in their opinion, to clear the way for a quick deal.

Ellender said it was his understanding there will be a top-scale administration meeting this week, probably Tuesday, to review all the "political" and "economic factors," with a view to a decision this week, or early next week.

Fulbright said that if the administration has to wait for extended debate in Congress on a resolution voicing congressional sentiment in favor of such a transaction, "There wouldn't be any deal."

The senators reported that Secetary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges favor an order from Kennedy authorizing the sale and that Undersecretary of State George W Ball, while pointing to the "political" problems involved, appeared to favor it also.

All three were questioned at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Agriculture Committee.

Freeman told reporters there has been no formal offer from the Soviet government to the U.S. government for wheat purchase, but "I think the President has the authority to permit it at this time."

Job For Manatees

PANAMA, Canal Zone (AP — Manatees, grass-eating mammals found in fresh tropical waters, may be used to thin out aquatic grass in the Panama Canal's Gatun Lake, Gov. Robert J. Fleming says. Fleming fears the grass will spread into the canal, snarling ships' propellers.

Revised Church Schema Finds Favor In Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council began the work of its second phase Monday amid signs that the progressive, outward-looking attitude soughts by Popes John XXIII and Paul VI will prevail.

The topic De Ecclesia (Concerning the Church) was put on the floor thoroughly rewritten from the version the 2,500 council fathers debated last December just before a nine-month council recess.

A body of European prelates gave the new version general endorsement Monday. De Ecclesia, considered a foundation stone of the entire council, takes a new approach to the way the Roman Catholic Church looks at its own structure.

Pope Paul, speaking of the topic Sunday to the council, said: "The principal concern of this session of the council will be to examine the intimate nature of the church and to express in human language, so far as that is possible, a definition that will best reveal the church's real, fundamental constitution."

The original topic, or schema, caused criticism last year. Many prelates called it too academic and rigid in tone. The more modern approach was backed up by Pope John when he ordered the entire slate of council topics revised. Pope Paul saw to it that John's idea was carried out after his death in June.

The second council session was reopened by Pope Paul Sunday in St. Peter's Basilica. De Ecclesia was put before a closed council meeting for discussions expected to last almost until the next recess Dec. 4.

First Lady Leaves Today For Vacation In Greece

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy leaves Tuesday for a two-week vacation in Greece and a cruise aboard a fabulous borrowed yacht.

Before she departs, Mrs. Kennedy will join the President in an official ceremonial greeting for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

While the President and his mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, entertain the royal visitor at a White House state dinner Tuesday night, Mrs. Kennedy will be on her way by commercial plane to Greece.

Originally, Mrs. Kennedy was due to leave Oct. 2, but the White House announced the earlier departure Monday and added the information that Mrs. Kennedy will cruise in the Eastern Mediterrean on her vacation aboard Christina, the 303-foot floating palace yacht of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

During her two-week stay in Greece, Mrs. Kennedy will make her headquarters at the seaside villa of another shipping magnate, Marcos Nomikos, at Cavouri Bay, about 15 miles southeast of Athens.

She will be accompanied on her vacation trip by her sister and brother-in-law, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill.

Kennedy Hails World Bank's Expansion Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finance ministers of 100 nations opened discussions Monday on the possibility of putting new gears in the international financial machinery, and they received a word of encouragement from President Kennedy.

Kennedy said he was pleased to learn that studies were about to be launched to measure the need for new or expanded facilities for handling financial transactions between nations.

The President was warmly received by the governing boards of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank as he pledged that the United States would take whatever actions might be necessary to protect the dollar.

The studies, to be conducted both by IMF and a group of 10 industrialized nations, will deal with the problem of international liquidity—the technical term for currency, gold and credit used in settling accounts between countries.

Kennedy told the 700 financial representaitves of the non-Communist world that there is a sharp distinction between the long-term problem of liquidity and "the current problems of international imbalance."

The current problem, from the U.S. view, is this country's persistent deficit in its international balance of payments. Kennedy said the United States is determined to solve this problem "but not at the expense of others."

The balance of payments is the inflow of dollars to this country versus the outgo. The total dollars received from exports and investment is not as great as the amount that leaves the country to pay for imports, foreign aid, investment abroad and the maintenance of military forces overseas.

Nixon Says "Rocky" Implied He'll Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday he has first hand word that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller apparently intends to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

In a sidewalk interview, Nixon said that at a recent meeting Rockefeller "implied he would like my support."

Nixon made it plain he had not committed himself, for or against Rockefeller or anyone else. He said he would support whoever is chosen next year by the GOP convention.

Valachi To Tell Of Gang War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime probers said Monday that Joseph Valachi, the vengeful mobster, will reveal the inside details of bloody gang warfare for power and vengeance when he resumes his testimony Tuesday.

Valachi already has acknowledged in hearings before the Senate Investigations subcommittee that he was a killer for a nationwide crime syndicate known as Cosa Nostra, which he now hopes his testimony will destroy.

He wants to avenge the "kiss of death" he says he received from Vito Genovese, whom he named as Cosa Nostra's "boss of bosses," when he and Genovese were cellmates last year in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee's chairman, and Jerome Adlerman, its counsel, said Valachi will describe a series of New York gangland murders as he saw them from inside as a "soldier" or rank-and-file criminal in Cosa Nostra's ranks.

The Justice Department already had leaked word that Valachi could tell much about gang style murders—the friendly smile and slap on the back before the withering blast of bullets.

Adlerman told a reporter Valachi's story would cover a "gangland war for power and vengeance" dating back to the 1930's which rubbed out Peter Morello as Cosa Nostra's boss of bosses, and installed a secret "commission" to run the outfit in which Valachi says Genovese rose to dominance.

Hurricane Flora Buffets Tobago

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — New-born Hurricane Flora raked the island of Tobago Monday, then aimed 110-mile an hour winds toward the Grenadine Islands amid Weather Bureau warnings to residents to move to the hills "before it is too late."

Torrential rains and storm tides five to seven feet tall were expected. "People in low areas and near beaches should move immediately to higher elevations," said the Weather Bureau at San Juan, P.R.

The Weather Bureau said the hurricane offered no immediate threat to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, but "the people are urged to keep in touch" with advisories.

Hurricane hunter aircraft located Flora about Monday morning. Until then, no evidence had been reported of anything in the area except a tropical depression with winds of 35 miles an hour.

Achievements Cited By Peking On Birthday Eve

TOKYO (AP)—On the eve of its 14th birthday, Red China asserted Monday it has overcome three years of calamity on the farm and crop production is rising. Industry was pictured as expanding.

An official statement broadcast by Radio Peking seemed to be saying that Red China is doing all right despite its quarrel with Moscow, which has cost important Soviet aid needed for the tattered Chinese economy.

The official New China news agency anniversary statement said Mao Tze-tung's much criticized "great leap forward" and the farm communes had been vindicated. Soviet Premier Khrushchev assailed the communes as a futile attempt to accomplish communism at one bound.

The tenor of the statement indicated a festive Tuesday, when Red Chinese leaders and millions of Chinese assemble in Peking to celebrate the day in 1949 when Mao proclaimed his people's republic.

Ohioan Leaps To Death From Bellaire Bridge

BELLAIRE, Ohio (UPI) —Donald Fleming, 32, Bellaire, a muscular ex-boxer and bridegroom of one week, jumped 210-feet to his death Sunday from the superstructure of the Bellaire bridge over the Ohio River.

Authorities tried to coax him off the steel girders but he told them to "go away" and jumped into 15 feet of water. A spectator swam out to him and brought him in.

Investigators, who said Fleming had bragged that he could jump off the bridge and live, issued no ruling in the death.

McDowell Fined $36

CLEVELAND, Miss. (UPI) — Negro Cleve McDowell, expelled from the University of Mississippi last week, was convicted of two traffic violations Monday night and fined $36.

McDowell was found guilty of speeding, fined $24 for that, and also convicted of driving without lights, which drew him a $12 fine.

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish section of an oil pipeline linking East Germany with Russia will be completed this week and oil is expected to start flowing next month, the Polish newspaper Trybuna Ludu said.

JFK Considers Red Wheat Sale Political Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cabinet officials told inquiring senators Monday President Kennedy is weighing the political as well as the economic effects before deciding whether to permit the sale of wheat to Russia at subsidized export prices.

One report has said the Russians have been talking about a deal for three million tons at $250 million.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Allen J. Ellender, D-La., head of the Agriculture Committee, both threw their support behind presidential action. They said that Kennedy has the authority, in their opinion, to clear the way for a quick deal.

Ellender said it was his understanding there will be a top-scale administration meeting this week, probably Tuesday, to review all the "political" and "economic factors," with a view to a decision this week, or early next week.

Fulbright said that if the administration has to wait for extended debate in Congress on a resolution voicing congressional sentiment in favor of such a transaction, "There wouldn't be any deal."

The senators reported that Secetary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges favor an order from Kennedy authorizing the sale and that Undersecretary of State George W Ball, while pointing to the "political" problems involved, appeared to favor it also.

All three were questioned at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Agriculture Committee.

Freeman told reporters there has been no formal offer from the Soviet government to the U.S. government for wheat purchase, but "I think the President has the authority to permit it at this time."

Job For Manatees

PANAMA, Canal Zone (AP — Manatees, grass-eating mammals found in fresh tropical waters, may be used to thin out aquatic grass in the Panama Canal's Gatun Lake, Gov. Robert J. Fleming says. Fleming fears the grass will spread into the canal, snarling ships' propellers.

Backs Revolt, Nation Is Told By Ben Bella

President Charges Hassen's Troops 10 Yards From Border

ALGIERS (AP)—President Ahmed Ben Bella charged Monday night that Morocco has troops poised ten yards from the Algerian border and is backing a Berber uprising aginst this government.

The Algerian Political Bureau called for crowds of Algerians to demonstrate for Ben Bella Tuesday evening.

In a dramatic radio address to the nation Ben Bella said:

"Moroccan soldiers of Moulay Hassan (King Hassan II) are ten meters (about ten yards) from the Algerian frontier,

"We know what it means. We fear nothing. We can defend ourselves. . .

"They (the Moroccans) would like to see our troops concentrate too. . . While our country is being threatened by internal subversion, it is also being attacked from the exterior. . . This operation will not succeed."

There was no immediate reaction from Morocco to Ben Bella's remarks.

While Ben Bella spoke, confusing reports poured into the capital about loyalist and dissident troops moving around in Kabylie, east of Algiers.

Army Units Mutiny

Some Army units were in a state of mutiny in Kabylie following their commander, Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, who was deposed by Bell Bella as chief of the 7th military region. Mohand Ou El Hadj openly proclaimed opposition to Ben Bella.

According to some reports, government troops sent to stem the revolt evacuated some points they had occupied earlier — only to return several hours later.

Small convoys were crossing one another and bewildered officers claimed they knew nothing. There were no clashes between the opposing forces and the number of government troops engaged in the movement did not exceed 1,000.

In his radio speech, Ben Bella charged that Algerian Berber leader Belkacem Krim, one of the authors of the French-Algerian Evian peace treaty, visited Tangier in an effort to obtain Moroccan help.

Sahara Claims Conflict

Morocco and Algeria have been feuding for some time. Morocco claims part of the Sahara held by Algeria. The conservative regime of King Hassan has been hostile to sweeping radical measures adopted by the government of Ben Bella in Algeria.

In the confusion of the Kabylie, Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj left Michelet after being disposed by Ben Bella and took with him dissident parliamentary deputy Hocine Ait Ahmed.

The two men, accompanied by about 50 body guards, drove off in a convoy of small trucks, turning off the main highway into a dirt road climbing high into the mountains.

A unit of government infantry from Constantine in eastern Algeria parked its vehicles outside Michelet. The men stared lazily at the sharp mountain ranges covered with light mist while officers talked to town leaders, all backers of the dissidents.

In nearby Ft. National, apparently abandoned by its locally recruited garrison, a government unit took up positions.

First Lady Leaves Today For Vacation In Greece

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy leaves Tuesday for a two-week vacation in Greece and a cruise aboard a fabulous borrowed yacht.

Before she departs, Mrs. Kennedy will join the President in an official ceremonial greeting for Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

While the President and his mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, entertain the royal visitor at a White House state dinner Tuesday night, Mrs. Kennedy will be on her way by commercial plane to Greece.

Originally, Mrs. Kennedy was due to leave Oct. 2, but the White House announced the earlier departure Monday and added the information that Mrs. Kennedy will cruise in the Eastern Mediterrean on her vacation aboard Christina, the 303-foot floating palace yacht of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

During her two-week stay in Greece, Mrs. Kennedy will make her headquarters at the seaside villa of another shipping magnate, Marcos Nomikos, at Cavouri Bay, about 15 miles southeast of Athens.

She will be accompanied on her vacation trip by her sister and brother-in-law, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill.

Revised Church Schema Finds Favor In Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council began the work of its second phase Monday amid signs that the progressive, outward-looking attitude soughts by Popes John XXIII and Paul VI will prevail.

The topic De Ecclesia (Concerning the Church) was put on the floor thoroughly rewritten from the version the 2,500 council fathers debated last December just before a nine-month council recess.

A body of European prelates gave the new version general endorsement Monday. De Ecclesia, considered a foundation stone of the entire council, takes a new approach to the way the Roman Catholic Church looks at its own structure.

Pope Paul, speaking of the topic Sunday to the council, said: "The principal concern of this session of the council will be to examine the intimate nature of the church and to express in human language, so far as that is possible, a definition that will best reveal the church's real, fundamental constitution."

The original topic, or schema, caused criticism last year. Many prelates called it too academic and rigid in tone. The more modern approach was backed up by Pope John when he ordered the entire slate of council topics revised. Pope Paul saw to it that John's idea was carried out after his death in June.

The second council session was reopened by Pope Paul Sunday in St. Peter's Basilica. De Ecclesia was put before a closed council meeting for discussions expected to last almost until the next recess Dec. 4.

Cambridge Votes Today On Rights Amendment

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — A tense campaign ended in surface quiet Monday night on the eve of Cambridge's unusual referendum on a public accommodations amendment to the city charter.

Voters will decide whether racial discrimination will be banned in the restaurants, inns and hotels of this city of 12,000 on the Eastern Shore of Chesapeake Bay.

National Guard and State Police officials held last-minute huddles on their strategy for keeping the peace in the racially scarred community. Except for four days in July, Guardsmen have occupied Cambridge since June 14.

The controversy over desegregation has erupted several times into gunplay and arson. Six white persons were shot and wounded during the July 8-11 absence of the Guard.

City officials, predicting a record turnout of the 5,282 registered voters, expressed confidence that the amendment will pass.

"The only question is by what margin," declared city attorney C. Awdry Thompson. "We need a big one to improve our national image."

Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray, in late television appearances, emphasized this and the economic issue. He said defeat of the amendment would mean continued loss of new industry for the city and kill its chances of becoming the site of a new University of Maryland branch.

Optimism also flowed from the camp of opponents of the amendments. William L. Wise, an oil distributor heading the Dorchester Businessmen's and Citizens' Association, predicted a 2-1 rejection.

The issue, as he described it in a letter to registered voters, is whether public officials can deprive residents of the right to use their business property as they see fit.

Pointing an accusing finger at the Kennedy administration, Wise said no other community had been called upon to make such a decision.

Woman Guilty Of Fraud Count In 'Glass' Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 40-year-old woman received a five-year suspended prison term in Baltimore Criminal Court Monday after being convicted of attempting to defraud an insurance company.

The woman, Rosa Mae Lee also known as Rosa Mae Aiken, has filed suit against the Read Drug and Chemical Company, claiming she swallowed glass while eating a sundae at a Read's drugstore July 19, 1960.

She failed to appear for the final hearing when her injury case was tried in the Court of Common Pleas in November, 1962. Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast then referred the case to the state's attorney's office for investigation of possible fraud.

After hearing testimony Monday Judge Charles D. Harris said, "It seems only too evident to me that this defendant has been operating her own private little racket against drug companies and insurance companies."

Bernard Silberg, assistant state's attorney, told the court the woman also had filed a claim against the F.W. Woolworth Company, contending she had swallowed glass while eating a banana split in a New York store on July 11, 1960. She settled the claim for $300, the court was told.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The body of Joseph Slough, 26, was found Monday in the Seneca River of Baltimore County by members of the Edgemere Volunteer Fire Department.

Police said Slough disappeared Sunday when he attempted to swim across the river during an outing with friends.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 10-month-old boy died Monday of injuries he received when a wall clock fell and one of its metal prongs punctured his skull.

Mrs. Barbara Worrell, 33, told police she left her son on a living room sofa Sunday and went into the kitchen. Later, she heard a crash and a scream.

BALTIMORE (AP — Diana L. Young, 5, of Washington, injured in an automobile accident last Friday, died Monday in University Hospital.

Mrs. Lucille D. Young, 26, the victim's mother, was driving the car which rolled over three times on the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The death was the 436th in Maryland traffic accidents this year, compared with 419 on a comparable date of 1962.

New Dominican Regime Seeks To Mend U.S. Ties

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's civilian provisional government, installed last week after the ouster of President Juan Bosch, Monday aimed for economic aid from Washington and diplomatic recognition from most of its hemispheric neighbors.

The government named Dr. Jose Antonio Bonilla Atiles as its ambassador to the United States and announced he would leave for Washington Tuesday seeking a resumption of diplomatic relations with the United States and other Organization of American States countries.

The United States withdrew recognition from the Dominican Republic shortly after rightist military chiefs last Wednesday overthrew the first freely elected Dominican government in more than three decades.

Bonilla, well known in Washington diplomatic circles, will also seek restoration of a $50 million aid program Dominicans have admitted is vital to their economy.

The government later announced it would deport Segundo Gonzalez Tamayo, vice president under Bosch, three former members of Bosch's cabinet, and the head of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party, Angel Miolan.

The former ministers, Jacobo Magluta, finance; Miguel A. Domingue, interior, and Luis A. Del Rosario, communications, have been detained in the presidential palace along with Tamayo since the military coup.

Meanwhile, the country appeared calm. Police and cavalry units surrounded the university campus Monday where pro-Bosch students were reported in an angry mood, but withdrew when no incidents developed.

Power Plant Plan Outlined

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Officials of the Potomac Electric Power Co. and its consulting engineers outlined for the state Monday their plans for a new generating plant at Chalk Point on the Patuxent River.

They said they are confident from studies that the plant's hot water discharge will not damage marine life in the river.

The plans for intake and discharge of water from the plant were discussed at a meeting of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission during a progress report on construction.

The commission decided afterward not to object to a company application now on file with the corps of engineers to dredge an intake channel from the river into Swanson's Creek and construct a spoil area which will jut into the river.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the University of Maryland Natural Resources Institute, objected that the commission does not have enough information on what effect the jetties will have on the pattern of water flow in the river and whether a "thermal barrier" of hot water will be thrown across the path of migratory fish.

Director Of Old Md. Highway Patrol Dies

FREDERICK (AP) — D. Marshal Schroeder, head of a motorcycle patrol which was transformed into the Maryland State Police in 1935, died Monday after a heart atatck.

Schroeder, who would have been 71 in December, directed the highway patrol as a deputy commissioner of motor vehicles. He retired in 1951 after 30 years as deputy commissioner.

A native of Frederick, Schroeder died at the home of a sister, Mrs. Robert L. Smith.

McKeldin's Charge Hit By Goodman

BALTIMORE (AP) — The ins and outs at City Hall wrangled Monday over who is to blame for a possible deficit. And both sides disagreed with the mayor.

It all started when Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin called a news conference Saturday to state with alarm that the rate of spending in the Department of Public Works has been away over its budget.

McKeldin said if continued it could amount to a deficit of as much as half a million dollars.

He blamed it entirely on extra workers hired for a clean-up campaign last spring — at the time of the municipal election. McKeldin defeated Philip H. Goodman, former acting Democratic mayor.

Goodman called the statements ludicrous and retorted they were "deliberately conceived for the purpose of laying the background for a huge tax increase."

Goodman then leveled a charge of his own. He said he suspected the McKeldin administration has been spending unnecessarily.

"You can't buy $13,000 Cadillacs and you can't hire people to pay off political debts as the present administration is doing and at the same time not have to worry about deficits," Goodman said.

A new Cadillac was bought for Mayor McKeldin and his administrative staff was increased.

Hyman A. Pressman, the Democrat elected comptroller on McKeldin's ticket, was squarely in the middle. He said he believed, too, that the payroll had been padded by the Goodman administration.

But he said it wasn't done in the clean-up campaign. Pressman said Mayor McKeldin must have been mistaken.

Prison Terms Given Former S&L Officials

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Four former savings and loan officials at Silver Spring were sentenced to prison Monday by a judge who called them a "group of swindlers."

Judge Thomas M. Anderson of Montgomery County Circuit Court handed out terms ranging from one to nine years. He said the four were responsible for the disappearance of $3 million at the now-bankrupt Mutual Security Savings & Loan Association of Silver Spring.

Arthur A. Peisner, general counsel of the firm, drew the 9-year Maryland Penitentiary term on charges of conspiring to defraud shareholders.

Robert H. Simonds, president, was sentenced to 6 years in the Maryland Penitentiary on a conspiracy charge.

Morton Lifshutz, treasurer, was sentenced to three years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Gerald Golden, a notary public who pleaded guilty to executing deeds of trust in blank to build up apparent assets of Mutual Security, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction.

How to tell a broker from a tipster

(Here are five things that give the tipster away)

When you invest, it's hard to think of anything more important than a good broker. Or of anything more dangerous than a mere tipster, whether a well-meaning friend or a stranger on the telephone, urging you to buy.

After all, it's your hard-won money. You would like to have it bring you an income from dividends on stock. Or interest on bonds. Or to have a good prospect of increasing in value over the years.

So remember these five tell-tale signs of the tipster:

Tipster: "Boy, have I got a hot one!"

Broker: A broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, can tell you how badly people can get burned by a tip. And how important it is to have facts. On earnings. On dividends. On the company's financial position. Armed with knowledge, you're better able to exercise careful judgment.

Tipster: "Hurry. There's only a limited amount of that stock around."

Broker: He knows that people who rush you often have something else in mind than your welfare. It's wise to take the time to be careful.

Tipster: "It's a chance in a million to make a killing."

Broker: He meets people who have shot for the moon and missed. And people who have, instead, set long-term goals to fit their circumstances and gone a long way toward achieving them.

Tipster: "You can't lose with this."

Broker: He's aware that prices go down as well as up. That a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

Tipster: "You'll be wise to put as much as you can into this."

Broker: He believes your living expenses come first. Then provision for emergencies. After that, you may want to invest for income or growth of your capital. Ask him about the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can invest in stock with as little as $40 every three months.

Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange have no magic key to the future. No one has. And each Member Firm has its distinctive characteristics. But all are subject to the regulations of the Exchange. And their Registered Representatives had to meet Exchange qualifications when they became Member Firm brokers. Why not see a nearby Member Firm for more information about investing.

Woman Guilty Of Fraud Count In 'Glass' Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 40-year-old woman received a five-year suspended prison term in Baltimore Criminal Court Monday after being convicted of attempting to defraud an insurance company.

The woman, Rosa Mae Lee also known as Rosa Mae Aiken, has filed suit against the Read Drug and Chemical Company, claiming she swallowed glass while eating a sundae at a Read's drugstore July 19, 1960.

She failed to appear for the final hearing when her injury case was tried in the Court of Common Pleas in November, 1962. Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast then referred the case to the state's attorney's office for investigation of possible fraud.

After hearing testimony Monday Judge Charles D. Harris said, "It seems only too evident to me that this defendant has been operating her own private little racket against drug companies and insurance companies."

Bernard Silberg, assistant state's attorney, told the court the woman also had filed a claim against the F.W. Woolworth Company, contending she had swallowed glass while eating a banana split in a New York store on July 11, 1960. She settled the claim for $300, the court was told.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The body of Joseph Slough, 26, was found Monday in the Seneca River of Baltimore County by members of the Edgemere Volunteer Fire Department.

Police said Slough disappeared Sunday when he attempted to swim across the river during an outing with friends.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 10-month-old boy died Monday of injuries he received when a wall clock fell and one of its metal prongs punctured his skull.

Mrs. Barbara Worrell, 33, told police she left her son on a living room sofa Sunday and went into the kitchen. Later, she heard a crash and a scream.

BALTIMORE (AP — Diana L. Young, 5, of Washington, injured in an automobile accident last Friday, died Monday in University Hospital.

Mrs. Lucille D. Young, 26, the victim's mother, was driving the car which rolled over three times on the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The death was the 436th in Maryland traffic accidents this year, compared with 419 on a comparable date of 1962.

School buses account for about 70 per cent of the annual U. S. bus output.

New Dominican Regime Seeks To Mend U.S. Ties

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's civilian provisional government, installed last week after the ouster of President Juan Bosch, Monday aimed for economic aid from Washington and diplomatic recognition from most of its hemispheric neighbors.

The government named Dr. Jose Antonio Bonilla Atiles as its ambassador to the United States and announced he would leave for Washington Tuesday seeking a resumption of diplomatic relations with the United States and other Organization of American States countries.

The United States withdrew recognition from the Dominican Republic shortly after rightist military chiefs last Wednesday overthrew the first freely elected Dominican government in more than three decades.

Bonilla, well known in Washington diplomatic circles, will also seek restoration of a $50 million aid program Dominicans have admitted is vital to their economy.

The government later announced it would deport Segundo Gonzalez Tamayo, vice president under Bosch, three former members of Bosch's cabinet, and the head of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party, Angel Miolan.

The former ministers, Jacobo Magluta, finance; Miguel A. Domingue, interior, and Luis A. Del Rosario, communications, have been detained in the presidential palace along with Tamayo since the military coup.

Meanwhile, the country appeared calm. Police and cavalry units surrounded the university campus Monday where pro-Bosch students were reported in an angry mood, but withdrew when no incidents developed.

Power Plant Plan Outlined

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Officials of the Potomac Electric Power Co. and its consulting engineers outlined for the state Monday their plans for a new generating plant at Chalk Point on the Patuxent River.

They said they are confident from studies that the plant's hot water discharge will not damage marine life in the river.

The plans for intake and discharge of water from the plant were discussed at a meeting of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission during a progress report on construction.

The commission decided afterward not to object to a company application now on file with the corps of engineers to dredge an intake channel from the river into Swanson's Creek and construct a spoil area which will jut into the river.

Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, director of the University of Maryland Natural Resources Institute, objected that the commission does not have enough information on what effect the jetties will have on the pattern of water flow in the river and whether a "thermal barrier" of hot water will be thrown across the path of migratory fish.

Director Of Old Md. Highway Patrol Dies

FREDERICK (AP) — D. Marshal Schroeder, head of a motorcycle patrol which was transformed into the Maryland State Police in 1935, died Monday after a heart atatck.

Schroeder, who would have been 71 in December, directed the highway patrol as a deputy commissioner of motor vehicles. He retired in 1951 after 30 years as deputy commissioner.

A native of Frederick, Schroeder died at the home of a sister, Mrs. Robert L. Smith.

McKeldin's Charge Hit By Goodman

BALTIMORE (AP) — The ins and outs at City Hall wrangled Monday over who is to blame for a possible deficit. And both sides disagreed with the mayor.

It all started when Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin called a news conference Saturday to state with alarm that the rate of spending in the Department of Public Works has been away over its budget.

McKeldin said if continued it could amount to a deficit of as much as half a million dollars.

He blamed it entirely on extra workers hired for a clean-up campaign last spring — at the time of the municipal election. McKeldin defeated Philip H. Goodman, former acting Democratic mayor.

Goodman called the statements ludicrous and retorted they were "deliberately conceived for the purpose of laying the background for a huge tax increase."

Goodman then leveled a charge of his own. He said he suspected the McKeldin administration has been spending unnecessarily.

"You can't buy $13,000 Cadillacs and you can't hire people to pay off political debts as the present administration is doing and at the same time not have to worry about deficits," Goodman said.

A new Cadillac was bought for Mayor McKeldin and his administrative staff was increased.

Hyman A. Pressman, the Democrat elected comptroller on McKeldin's ticket, was squarely in the middle. He said he believed, too, that the payroll had been padded by the Goodman administration.

But he said it wasn't done in the clean-up campaign. Pressman said Mayor McKeldin must have been mistaken.

Prison Terms Given Former S&L Officials

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Four former savings and loan officials at Silver Spring were sentenced to prison Monday by a judge who called them a "group of swindlers."

Judge Thomas M. Anderson of Montgomery County Circuit Court handed out terms ranging from one to nine years. He said the four were responsible for the disappearance of $3 million at the now-bankrupt Mutual Security Savings & Loan Association of Silver Spring.

Arthur A. Peisner, general counsel of the firm, drew the 9-year Maryland Penitentiary term on charges of conspiring to defraud shareholders.

Robert H. Simonds, president, was sentenced to 6 years in the Maryland Penitentiary on a conspiracy charge.

Morton Lifshutz, treasurer, was sentenced to three years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Gerald Golden, a notary public who pleaded guilty to executing deeds of trust in blank to build up apparent assets of Mutual Security, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction.

Dr. King's talk, "The Crisis That Confronts Us," will be followed by a discussion of the racial problem in Maryland.

How to tell a broker from a tipster

(Here are five things that give the tipster away)

When you invest, it's hard to think of anything more important than a good broker. Or of anything more dangerous than a mere tipster, whether a well-meaning friend or a stranger on the telephone, urging you to buy.

After all, it's your hard-won money. You would like to have it bring you an income from dividends on stock. Or interest on bonds. Or to have a good prospect of increasing in value over the years.

So remember these five tell-tale signs of the tipster:

Tipster: "Boy, have I got a hot one!"

Broker: A broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, can tell you how badly people can get burned by a tip. And how important it is to have facts. On earnings. On dividends. On the company's financial position. Armed with knowledge, you're better able to exercise careful judgment.

Tipster: "Hurry. There's only a limited amount of that stock around."

Broker: He knows that people who rush you often have something else in mind than your welfare. It's wise to take the time to be careful.

Tipster: "It's a chance in a million to make a killing."

Broker: He meets people who have shot for the moon and missed. And people who have, instead, set long-term goals to fit their circumstances and gone a long way toward achieving them.

Tipster: "You can't lose with this."

Broker: He's aware that prices go down as well as up. That a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

Tipster: "You'll be wise to put as much as you can into this."

Broker: He believes your living expenses come first. Then provision for emergencies. After that, you may want to invest for income or growth of your capital. Ask him about the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can invest in stock with as little as $40 every three months.

Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange have no magic key to the future. No one has. And each Member Firm has its distinctive characteristics. But all are subject to the regulations of the Exchange. And their Registered Representatives had to meet Exchange qualifications when they became Member Firm brokers. Why not see a nearby Member Firm for more information about investing.

W. Va. Utilities Begin Pleas For Tax Reductions

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia public utilities Monday began annual pleas for reductions in property valuations set by the State Board of Public Works for tax purposes.

Railroads, express companies, telephone and telegraph companies appeared Monday to present their views on tentative utility property valuations set by the State Tax Department and totaling about $864 million, or a drop of about $15 million from this year.

Huntington attorney Amos Bolen, representing the Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio railroads, told the board property valuations for each of the railroads each should be reduced by at least $10 million.

The tax department recommended a $103.5 million valuation for C&O properties and $60 million for the B&O, representing cuts of $5 million and $7.5 million, respectively from this year.

In arguing for at least $10 million decreases, Bolen said the value of C&O holdings dropped $17 million during the past year and B&O $14 million.

He said the proposed $10 million reductions would amount to a loss of less than one-third of 1 per cent in tax revenues to a county. He said any impression that reducing railroads' valuations would "close the schools and county operations just isn't true."

Bolen told the BPW, headed by Gov. W. W. Barron that "we need some time and some help from you." He said he hoped that in a few years, the railroads would be able to look at BPW assessments and say, "all right gentlemen."

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Monongahela Railway, and Western and Maryland Railway also appeared Mondy.

The Monongahela asked that its tentative $1.4 million assessment —a cut of $100,000 — be reduced to "no more than $800,000." The firm pointed to operational difficulties heightened by federal "subsidizing of barge lines operating on the Monongahela River," including the deepening of the Monongahela River between Fairmont and Pittsburgh.

Western Maryland asked that its assessment — tentatively set for a reduction from $11 million to $10 million — be slashed another $500,000. It pointed to an increasing crimp in income from coal haulages to eastern utility companies because of competition with cheap residual oil imports and the necessity to cut rates accordingly.

The Pennsylvania Railroad asked the board to cut its tentative $1.9 million assessment — a decrease of $100,000—to "not more than $1.1 million. It said the tentative assessment was "176 per cent" of the total under a formula "which has been used for many years" in the state.

The Norfolk & Western Railway, scheduled for a $2 million increase in its assessment to a total of $126,000, asked for a reduction, arguing that its $5.1 million 1963 property tax bill was "36 per cent greater than our system's average," or 17 per cent higher than in Ohio, 55 per cent higher than in Virginia, 138 per cent more than in North Carolina.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. questioned a recommended $3 million increase in its assessment to a total of $53.3 million. It said its property tax burden since 1954 had increased 154 per cent from $537,000 in 1964 to $1.36 million this year and should be taken into consideration by the board.

Railroad car lines, toll bridges, water electric and gas companies are to appear before the board Tuesday and oil and gas lines, air lines, bus lines and any other utilities Wednesday. The BPW will meet later this month to set final 1964 assessments.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

The Theory Behind Showers

The theory behind showers is basically that of "showering good on another." You want to give a friend a boost toward some particular goal, generally provisions for an unexpected child, a marriage or a new home. It is one of the most generous and beautiful gestures.

But, like all good things, showering another can be overdone.

Etiquette demands that we go along with local practices. Still allowed to run their gamut, local practices can get out of hand. And the practice of "showering" a prospective bride has come to be quite a tax on the time and purse of many a young girl.

I know of instances in which a girl has been invited to as many as six showers for a friend who was soon to be married. That becomes ridiculous and can strain generosity to the breaking point. It's sheer abuse of a good custom.

Showers never should be given by an immediate member of the family. It is too much like asking for a contribution, since the sole object of a shower is the showering of gifts on the guest of honor.

Now and then a very good friend of a bride-to-be or an expectant mother feels that her relationship calls for the rustling up of a shower. But, if in fulfilling this urge the hostess can only think of prospective guests who have already showered the prospective recipient, the party can become more of a burden than a source of pleasure. Consideration of the guests is as important as the welfare of the person to be honored.

Each person who accepts a shower invitation should send a present. But, while it is the general practice of all who accept an invitation to a wedding reception or breakfast to send a gift, it is not obligatory. Certainly no one should feel called upon to give more than one token of love and best wishes to any one person. If you have attended a shower and expressed interest in the bride's future with a tangible gift, etiquette does not demand that you give another.

Social Security Questions and Answers

Q. I am a widow 60 years old and have been receiving a widow's benefit. I am going to remarry. Will I lose my benefit?

A. No. Your benefit will not be affected by your remarriage.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I enjoyed the letter from the flat-chested school teacher who "filled in with cotton what God had forgotten." It was an amusing letter and seemed to make sense when I read it, but now I'm not so sure.

I'm a fairly attractive 18-year-old girl — another one of those whom "God has forgotten." I have been tempted many times to go to a lingerie store and buy myself an improved figure, but one thing holds me back. What effect would such a deception have on a husband when he learned he had been tricked? Would he feel cheated and hold this trickery against his wife? I hope my letter doesn't sound too stupid to print. I really would like an answer.—READY FOR STUFFING

DEAR READY: No real man would attach any importance to this whole cotton pickin' issue.

Go to the lingerie shop, Honey, and take care of what God has forgotten.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a 46-year-old wife who thinks she's a teenager?

Our 17-year-old daughter is a sensible, popular gal whose friends, both boys and girls, enjoy congregating in our rumpus room. We are not objecting — in fact, we're happy to have them here, but I do believe that my wife should not hang around (wearing Capri pants and a low-cut blouse) the entire evening and behave like one of the kids.

My wife is an excellent dancer and is up on all the latest, but our daughter tells me she finds it embarrassing when her mother does the mashed potato and the horse, the rabbit, the monkey and the rest of those foolish dances.

My wife insists she is really chaperoning the kids without letting them know it. I would like your views on this. Thank you.—TWINKLE TOES' HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Chaperoning my eye. Your wife is reliving her girlhood and giving that 17-year-old a run for her money.

Parents SHOULD be at home when their teenagers entertain but they should not plunk themselves in the middle of the group and try to be one of them.

Mothers who are young in appearance, and lively hoofers as well, should make every effort to cut down the voltage in the presence of their daughters' boy friends. Often without realizing it, they are competing with their daughters and this spells deep trouble.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married for 30 years to a man who is turning into an oversexed alcoholic.

He drinks almost a case of beer every night and even more on weekends. When I tell him he is becoming an alcoholic he points to his work-record (he has not missed a day in six years) and insists that people cannot be alcoholics if they stick to beer and work regularly.

I admit it's amazing that his work-record is so good. I also find it amazing that he can be so amorous just before he passes out — which he does almost every night.

Is it possible that he is right and I am wrong? Can it be that a person who drinks only beer is safe from alcoholism even if he does pass out regularly? He says beer makes him feel good but he insists he has never been drunk in his life. How about this? — AGGRAVATED EDNA

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Your husband is full of hops. Beer contains alcohol and a person can get knee-walking drunk on three bottles or less — depending on his threshold of tolerance.

Beer drunks are especially difficult to help because they usually deny that they are alcoholics. And there is no help for a person who refuses to admit that drinking is a problem.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣

A vigorous rally in the final round enabled bridge luminaries Lew Mathe and Ed Taylor of Los Angeles to capture the Life Masters Pairs at the Summer Nationals held in the California metropolis recently. The blue ribbon event of the American Contract Bridge league ran for six days and featured a number of interesting hands, one of which is presented here.

On the deal depicted in the diagram, most North-South pairs reached a contract of four spades. Where a club was opened by West, the defenders cashed out two tricks in the suit and then exited with a heart. When South got around to playing the diamonds, he led a small one from his hand and put up the dummy's queen when West played low. On the return, declarer finessed the ten of diamonds losing to the jack and now West cashed the ace for the setting trick.

At only one table did the declarer succeed in holding his losses in the diamond suit to one trick, enabling him to fulfill his contract for a very fine score. The defense started out by cashing two clubs and then shifting to a heart.

South drew the trumps in three rounds but, before attacking diamonds, he decided to get a count on his opponents' hands. All of the hearts were run as declarer shed two small diamonds. West had followed to four hearts and two spades. His original lead of the deuce of clubs had presumably marked him with a maximum of four cards in that suit, which meant that he had at least three diamonds, and that East had at most a doubleton.

On the basis of the count, South resolved to play West for the jack of diamonds. Since he was in the dummy after running the hearts, he led a small diamond and played the king from his hand. If the king held, it was his intention to lead back another diamond and play low from the dummy in the hope of felling a doubleton ace on his right.

When the king of diamonds was captured by West's ace, the latter was obliged to return the suit in order to avoid giving the declarer a ruff and sluff. South permitted the five of diamonds to ride successfully around to his ten, and North's queen took the final trick.

Keegan To Make Report On Detective Operations

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan told the Mayor and Council yesterday that in view of the recent number of breakings and enterings he is preparing a report of "facts and figures concerning operation of the Detective Bureau."

"Something has to be done," the commissioner said.

Later, Keegan told newsmen the report will be on "facts and figures and operation" of the bureau. Personnel of the bureau includes five men, he said, and "something has to be done to improve the Detective Bureau."

Keegan revealed he has written and made application to the Department of State Police and that when a State Police seminar was held here recently "I had a private meeting on personnel."

Keegan's statement was of a general nature with any specifics apparently having to wait on his report which, he said, will be made "in the near future."

Ground Broken For New Bedford Road Church

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Sunday for the new Bedford Road Baptist Church edifice which will be constructed at a cost of approximately $65,000.

Rev. A. J. Beck, pastor, said preliminary work on the structure was scheduled to get underway yesterday. Growden Construction Company is the contractor on the 38 by 84 foot brick sanctuary which will increase sanctuary capacity by 250 and Sunday School capacity by 200.

The new building will be connected to another church building, erected in 1960, by an ambulatory while a third church building, the old Evangelical Lutheran Church erected in 1851, will be demolished. This old church which seats 120, stands on ground originally given by the Wilson Neff estate.

The building constructed in 1960 is 28 by 44 feet and has two levels containing a kitchen, church offices, nursery, large meeting room and other facilities.

The new structure will be two stores and have adequate parking facilities. John Weida, of Baltimore, is the architect.

It will include educational departments — junior, intermediate, young people and adults — on the ground floor. The present education building will be used for nursery, beginners' and primary programs.

Members of the building committee are David Dom, chairman, Mrs. Ralph Michael, Lawrence Von Hagel, John E. Luttrell and C. Richard Cramer.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I enjoyed the letter from the flat-chested school teacher who "filled in with cotton what God had forgotten." It was an amusing letter and seemed to make sense when I read it, but now I'm not so sure.

I'm a fairly attractive 18-year-old girl — another one of those whom "God has forgotten." I have been tempted many times to go to a lingerie store and buy myself an improved figure, but one thing holds me back. What effect would such a deception have on a husband when he learned he had been tricked? Would he feel cheated and hold this trickery against his wife? I hope my letter doesn't sound too stupid to print. I really would like an answer.—READY FOR STUFFING

DEAR READY: No real man would attach any importance to this whole cotton pickin' issue.

Go to the lingerie shop, Honey, and take care of what God has forgotten.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a 46-year-old wife who thinks she's a teenager?

Our 17-year-old daughter is a sensible, popular gal whose friends, both boys and girls, enjoy congregating in our rumpus room. We are not objecting — in fact, we're happy to have them here, but I do believe that my wife should not hang around (wearing Capri pants and a low-cut blouse) the entire evening and behave like one of the kids.

My wife is an excellent dancer and is up on all the latest, but our daughter tells me she finds it embarrassing when her mother does the mashed potato and the horse, the rabbit, the monkey and the rest of those foolish dances.

My wife insists she is really chaperoning the kids without letting them know it. I would like your views on this. Thank you.—TWINKLE TOES' HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: Chaperoning my eye. Your wife is reliving her girlhood and giving that 17-year-old a run for her money.

Parents SHOULD be at home when their teenagers entertain but they should not plunk themselves in the middle of the group and try to be one of them.

Mothers who are young in appearance, and lively hoofers as well, should make every effort to cut down the voltage in the presence of their daughters' boy friends. Often without realizing it, they are competing with their daughters and this spells deep trouble.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married for 30 years to a man who is turning into an oversexed alcoholic.

He drinks almost a case of beer every night and even more on weekends. When I tell him he is becoming an alcoholic he points to his work-record (he has not missed a day in six years) and insists that people cannot be alcoholics if they stick to beer and work regularly.

I admit it's amazing that his work-record is so good. I also find it amazing that he can be so amorous just before he passes out — which he does almost every night.

Is it possible that he is right and I am wrong? Can it be that a person who drinks only beer is safe from alcoholism even if he does pass out regularly? He says beer makes him feel good but he insists he has never been drunk in his life. How about this? — AGGRAVATED EDNA

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Your husband is full of hops. Beer contains alcohol and a person can get knee-walking drunk on three bottles or less — depending on his threshold of tolerance.

Beer drunks are especially difficult to help because they usually deny that they are alcoholics. And there is no help for a person who refuses to admit that drinking is a problem.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Pupil Guidance Program Begins At Fort Hill High

The Fort Hill High School guidance department and faculty guidance committee has inaugurated a new student service, the Homeroom Guidance Program.

The program, based on group guidance, has been designed to complement the school's academic program. The primary objectives center around making the homeroom a unifying factor in school life and to strengthen individual initiatives. Students are encouraged to accept responsibility and maintain a channel of communication between the guidance counselors and the homeroom.

Utilizing the group guidance technique, the initial program offered the students, in each homeroom situation, a detailed explanation of the new guidance service, and the opportunity to elect two representatives from each homeroom class to serve as members of the Homeroom Guidance Planning Boards.

Six student planning boards, one for each grade, will assist the school counselors, the faculty committee, and the homeroom teachers in co-ordinating the biweekly programs. For each meeting a different program has been planned for each of the school's six grades. A student will not experience a duplicate homeroom guidance program while a student at Fort Hill from grade seven through grade twelve.

The numerous learning situations will provide the student body an opportunity to learn more about their school, getting along with others, self understanding, belongingness, wise use of leisure time, when and how to study, tests, educational planning, school attendance, social life, health problems, grooming, economy and savings, military information, employment opportunities, and marriage.

Frequently, a particular grade will assemble in the auditorium during the guidance period while the remaining grades conduct their programs in the classrooms. A variety of tools and techniques such as films, filmstrips, tape recordings, student discussions, and prepared manuscripts will be used throughout the school year.

Students elected by their homeroom classmates to serve on their respective class planning boards are:

Persons interested in enrolling should contact William Davis at the Amcelle plant, extension 503.

Deadline For Bike Tags Is Saturday

Bicycles unlicensed by Saturday will be impounded, Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said today.

The Police Department has been issuing licenses for some time and while it does not want to impound the vehicles, the law must be observed, Gaffney said. A fee of 25 cents is charged for the licenses.

Tags may be obtained at the Public Safety Building through Friday between the hours of 10 a. m. and noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m

Elected To Board

Arthur C. Howard, safety director of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company has been elected to the executive board of the rubber section of the National Safety Council.

Grocers To Get Big Warehouse

Construction has begun on a warehouse in LaVale to be leased by the 100-member Economy Grocers Company, a co-operative firm constituted by independent grocers in nearby areas of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

A spokesman for Economy Grocers said today the warehouse will contain 30,000 square feet, "about the size of a football field."

According to the building permit filed at Allegany County Court House, the warehouse is estimated to cost $100,000.

The EG organization currently maintains a warehouse on Gay Street and intends to operate both when the other is completed. Present plans call for use of the new warehouse by February, 1964.

The organization will lease the building.

Nine employes currently are employed by the EG firm at its Gay Street warehouse, but it is not known whether additional employes will be hired.

The new structure will be virtually automatic. With a railroad siding, shipments will be received already stacked and a fork lift will be used in placing stock in the warehouse. Current stocking procedures are handled manually at the Gay Street building.

The warehouse will permit EG grocers, a spokesman said, to buy in larger quantities for retail sale by the member EG stores.

Member stores are stockholders in the EG firm, whose manager is Donald N. Snyder. The organization functions with a board of directors.

The warehouse, located in the Narrows Park section, was needed because of "expanding business" and because of additional grocery lines to be carried by EG stores, the spokesman said.

Opinion Is Requested On Zoning Regulations

The Mayor and Council was asked to give an opinion yesterday on a North End area affected by proposed new zoning regulations so that petitions could be circulated to keep the section in its present state.

Hunter Helfrich, a former city commissioner who resides at 727 Sylvan Avenue, said he resides in three variously defined areas with different populations and he would like to know which area should be contacted. Population varies in each and signature requirements of 20 per cent could be greatly affected.

Helfrich wants to know where he starts and stops in obtaining signatures.

City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen said Helfrich should look at the boundaries on the new proposal and suggested that he seek signatures in the area to be changed or affected.

Helfrich said he wanted the residential area retained "as is" and that if a change were made "all kinds of stuff would move in on us." Questioned by Mayor Earl D. Chaney about what he meant, Helfrich said multiple housing (apartments) and different types of stores.

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder asked if McMullen defined the area affected in writing, would that be acceptable to Helfrich.

Helfrich said it would be deeply appreciated but that he disliked "digging into" 3,900 population for signatures when the change only affects 300 to 600 people.

Council will hold a public hearing on proposed new zoning regulations Monday, October 14.

The wood preserving industry of the United States employs about 14 thousand persons.

Manhattan Island, with a population density of about 88,116 persons per square mile, is one of the most densely poulated areas of like size in the world.

'Boy–You're a Strange Lookin' Bird'

Some Congressmen Are Passive On Selling Surplus Wheat To Reds

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Though some congressmen are chary about indorsing the proposed sale of surplus wheat to Soviet Russia, there was significantly little opposition when cabinet members discussed the idea behind closed doors with members of the House Foreign Affairs and Agriculture committees.

Only one House member, Ralph Hardin, D-Ida., seemed adamantly opposed. He commented with a macabre touch: "Why not sell the Russians our surplus tobacco? They might contract lung cancer."

Republicans Frances Bolton, Ohio, and H. R. Gross, Iowa, also asked some acid questions. Inquired Mrs. Bolton: "Aren't we playing into their hands by feeding them? An army is said to travel on its stomach. If we sell wheat to Russia, isn't this indirect military help?"

"We are now concluding a nuclear test ban treaty with Soviet Russia," said Gross. "If we sell them wheat to help them economically, doesn't that practically mark the beginning of the end of the Cold War to protect our own economy? I would want to give this step a long, hard look before we take it."

However, two other Republicans, Robert Dole, Kans., and Robert Barry, N. Y., approved the proposed wheat shipments, with reservations. Declared Dole: "If this will help our farmers and won't hurt the country, I am for it."

Both Dole and Barry agreed with Bill Barrett, D-Pa., that it should be a "hard cash" deal of "wheat for gold" with little or no long-time credit.

"It's as simple as this: We have a surplus of wheat and Russia has a surplus of gold," declared Barrett. "Their gold will help our imbalance of payments, caused by our outflow of American dollars. If we make a Yankee deal on this basis, I don't see how we can lose. But I want to see the contract that is drawn up before agreeing to support it."

Farmers Are Favorable

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said that the Administration asked no more than this, adding that President Kennedy wanted only to "sound out" Congress. The President himself had not made up his mind about a wheat deal with Russia, nor had the Soviets as yet made any official overtures to the U. S., he said.

"About two out of three farmers I have talked to favor unloading this surplus wheat," reported Freeman. "I think they fear that the surplus plus the recent lifting of mandatory controls on production may drive the price of wheat down to perhaps as low as $1 a bushel. That would be ruinous."

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, who also attended the closed door meeting, said that American business men, as well as farmers, probably would approve a wheat contract with Russia if it improved our international balance of payments.

"As a former business man, I feel it is better to sell this wheat now, when we can do so at a profit, rather than risk a future inventory loss on the 1-billion bushel surplus," declared Hodges. "We are in an advantageous position and can push a good bargain.

"Russia is desperately in need of this wheat. They had a bad crop this year, due to wheather conditions. The United States may as well get this business, rather than stand by and see Russia deal elsewhere."

Hodges added that we now sell non-strategic exports, such as machinery, etc., behind the Iron Curtain and that wheat would fall within this category.

"I can't imagine how this would hurt the American image abroad, but we can get hurt domestically if we continue to hoard huge wheat surpluses," commented the Secretary of Commerce.

Both Hodges and Freeman insisted, however, that they were not trying to sell Congress, but only "sounding out" the committees to guide the President. Nor did they indicate how such a deal might be handled, except to say that it probably would be transacted through private shippers, rather than the government.

They estimated that the total amount of wheat we could ship woud be between one-third and one-half of our billion-bushel surplus. They also agreed that a straight sale probably would be the best policy, rather than shipping the wheat under the Public Law 480 program, wherein we are paid in foreign currencies.

Hong Kong: The Challenge And The Warning

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

The free world's free enterprisers would soon move a vote of thanks to Mao Tse-tung if they halfway understood the real meaning of this strange and wonderful city.

The point is that Kong Kong shows, in the most startling manner what Chinese can do if you only give them a chance. Close to 3 million of them have poured into this confined space since the Japanese surrender.

Any economist on earth, if asked to predict the results of such an influx, would have confidently forecast death by starvation for more than three-quarters of the immigrants. There is nothing here except a fine harbor and an honest and permissive British government. There is not even enough water to wash in. But here are millions of ingenious, intelligent, and industrious Chinese. Almost literally with their naked hands (for the flight capital taking refuge in Hong Kong has mostly gone into real estate speculation) these Chinese have made Hong Kong the great manufacturing city which now troubles the world trade pattern of almost every light industry.

The West German "economic miracle" is a poor, piddling, petty thing compared to this phenomenon of Hong Kong. If you reflect upon its significance, Hong Kong is a cause for melancholy as well as a warning to other peoples. It is both at once, in fact, because it suggests what the Chinese people might have accomplished and may yet accomplish without Chairman Mao.

Very few parochial Westerners know it; but truth for close on 2,000 years, China was always the strongest and richest power on earth whenever China had a reasonably efficient central government. The old Chinese society was really too successful. For this very reason, it took too long for the rich cake of ancient custom to be broken and the preparations for a new start to be made, after the old China felt the resistless impact of Western industrial strength.

But the cake of custom had at length broken, and all was in readiness for a new start by the end of the second World War. If the Chinese people had then had half a chance, scores of Hong Kongs would have been created by now, in the commercial coastal cities and in the industrial centers of the interior.

These numerous Hong Kongs would in turn have generated, by the sheer suction of their own needs, a strong Chinese heavy industry based upon the plentiful resources of coal and iron which the Communists have never managed to exploit efficiently. And the Chinese farmers, who are the best in the world, would now be meeting the food needs of this transformed China by the same intensive use of fertilizer that has produced such astonishing results in Japan.

The same economists who would have predicted death by starvation for three-quarters of the immigrants into Hong Kong will no doubt smile in a superior way at this picture of the China that might have been. But these economists, like the vast majority of other Westerners, do not understand the foundations of China's greatness.

There are four, as follows: the family system; an incomparable talent for capital-creation; a proper respect for fertilizer; and the habit of working together, in labor corvees or otherwise. Mao's Stalinist-Communism has attacked the family system, forbidden individual capital-creation, removed the farmers' incentives for keeping the fields in good heart, and grossly misused the labor corvees.

In truth, Mao's Stalinist-Communism might well have been specially designed to frustrate the genius of the Chinese people. If you consider the probable impact on other industrial nations of the China that might have been, you will see why a kind of wry gratitude to Chairman Mao is certainly in order. If Chinese can make Japanese come to them to buy cheap toys, which is just what heppened here, God knows what they would do to the rest of us if they were given their heads.

But Mao has not only frustrated people he leads. He has also the extraordinary genius of the brought China to a worse pass than China has ever experienced from floods and droughts and wicked rulers and foreign invasions and all the other harsh chances of Chinese history. This is now the central political fact in Asia, and it demands further analysis.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Meditations After "Pugwash"

Back in the middle Nineteen Fifties that eminent capitalist, Cyrus Eaton, of Cleveland, Ohio, invited scientists from both sides of the Iron Curtain to meet in conference at his ancestral home in Pugwash, Nova Scotia. Since then there has been a "Pugwash" Conference every year, though they have usually been held in parts of the world that are quite distant from Canada. The 1963 "Pugwash" meeting has just finished its deliberations at Dubrovnik, in Yugoslavia, where, according to reports, all was amity between the western scientists and their opposite numbers from the Soviet Union. "Tensions," so the scientists said, had disappeared.

Since Eaton has been advocating deals and understandings with the Soviets ever since Khrushchev sent him a troika (three Russian horses and a carriage) back in the days when John Foster Dulles was our wary Secretary of State, the extremely amiable eleventh Pugwash meeting represents a personal triumph for the 80-year-old iron ore, railroad and utility tycoon. Old Cyrus can now say, "I told your so." After all, the Nuclear Test Ban has been signed; the country of his nativity, Canada, has just sold its wheat surplus to Khrushchev to save the Russians from short bread rations; and, in Washington, the groundwork is evidently being laid for a grain deal with Russia on our own. It is quite apparent that much of the foreign policy of the West is being recast in accordance with Eaton's prescribed outlines.

If this represents wisdom, then a lot of us owe an apology to old Cyrus. It wasn't so long ago that we were accusing him of willingness to traffic beyond all safety with an evil international menace. But now that Republican senators from our farm states are joining with Democratic senators to advocate unloading millions of bushels of grain for good Soviet gold, old Cyrus is moving in quite distinguished company.

Indeed, if it be wisdom to make deals with the Soviets, Eaton might apply for gold star membership in the guild of the prophets. His has been the most grandiose vision of the glorious East-West rapprochement. A brilliant enterpriser in the field of uncovering new and promising iron ore deposits, Cyrus Eaton long ago nailed down the title to a virgin ore field in Ungava, in northern Quebec. The Ungava iron is too far away from Buffalo and Cleveland to compete with ore from more southerly mining areas, but Eaton has put a transcendent value on the Ungava deposits for all that. In his Napoleonic imagination he has envisioned the Ungava ore flowing across the top of the world to the Krupp works in West Germany, there to be transformed into finished steel products for shipment to the Soviet Union.

This vision has been part of Eaton's larger dream of a great Moscow-Bonn-Paris-London-Washington entente. And if it be respectable to think that the Canadian wheat deal is merely the first swallow of a long period of summer in East-West relations, then Eaton is merely the oldest, boldest, most farsighted of the new order of visionaries.

Let us not rush off to endorse the visionaries, however, in any mad haste. Let us remember, at least for a day or two, the cries of those Hungarians as the Russian tanks moved in upon them to snuff out the dream of freedom only a few short years ago. Let us see, in our collective mind's eye, the atomic missiles that Khrushchev was busy unloading in Cuban ports just a little over a year back. Let us hear, in our dreams, the explosion of FALN bombs in Caracas, Venezuela — bombs that have been just as lethal as the dynamite that murdered the kids in that Negro church in Birmingham, Ala.

Finally, for those of us who are non-farmers, we have an interest in that wheat which the farm state senators, whether Republican or Democrat, want to sell to Russia. The subsidy paid to the farmers who raised that wheat has, in effect, been hijacked from the pockets of people who have no interest in helping Khrushchev maintain the oppression of his own farmers. I want a pro rata tax refund of subsidy money on any wheat that goes to Moscow.

Since justice cries out against making any deals with Khrushchev before he has moved to liberalize his own society and free his satellite slaves, I doubt the wisdom of rushing to accept Cyrus Eaton as a prophet. And so I won't apologize to him — just yet. Let him show me, first, that he can reform Khrushchev.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MME. NHU'S PASSPORT — When Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu began her travels away from strife ridden Viet Nam a few weeks ago, it became known that she planned to visit the United States during her pleasure jaunt. Mme. Nhu is the wife of the brother of the president of Viet Nam and her outspoken comments on affairs of that nation have caused deep concern in the capitals of the Western World.

At a State Department press briefing on the Mme. Nhu's travel plans, a spokesman innocently replying to a reporter's question said she would not need to apply for a new visa because she had been granted one a year ago. He added that it was a "diplomatic visa."

How, reporters quickly asked, could Mme. Nhu be given a diplomatic visa when the U. S. has been at pains to downgrade her political remarks on grounds that she held no office in her country's government?

The spokesman said Mme. Nhu was given a diplomatic visa because she carried a diplomatic passport—one issued by the government which her brother-in-law heads. Any further information on that matter, he said, would have to be gotten from the Vietnamese Embassy. However, that place was no help at all since virtually everyone of any stature at the legation has resigned in protest against events in Viet Nam.

Heat On For Program To Eradicate Tuberculosis

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The heat is on for a program to eradicate tuberculosis. This possibility may be just around the corner, considering the progress made in the last 60 years in conquering this infection. The number one problem is to uncover those with the disease so they can be treated successfuliy and kept from infecting others.

In the past, we have relied upon mass chest X-ray surveys for the detection of unknown cases. The tuberculin skin test is not as costly and is more logical, especially in children. It is the person with a positive test who develops tuberculosis. This is not a common occurrence, considering the large number with positive tests and the relatively small number of individuals with tuberculosis. But since those with a negative test rarely if ever get the adult type of the disease, the field is narrowed considerably by watching the positive reactors.

This test consists of injecting an extract of the causative tubercle bacilli into the skin: The site becomes red when positive, indicating that the individual harbors a focus of tuberculosis organisms, even though he is not ill at the time. To avoid misunderstanding, we must stress the fact that a positive tuberculin test is not synonomous with having tuberculosis. It means the individual has made contact with the micro-organisms which may or may not have caused an active infection.

A positive test, especially in infants, should be followed up with X-rays, to determine whether tuberculosis of the lungs has developed. If a previous test was negative and now is positive, the tyke is treated as though the disease existed.

Children and adults with a positive tuberculin reaction should have the chest X-rayed at regular intervals. So long as we have tuberculin positive persons, we shall continue to have active cases, and tuberculosis is passed on to the next generation through contact.

But this is only part of the program. A person with a positive result should do everything possible to prevent the disease from becoming active. Poor general health lowers resistance to the bacilli. They are more likely to gain a foothold when a person harbors other infections, eats an inadequate diet, and lives under substandard and unhygienic surroundings.

TOMORROW: Enuresis, a complex problem.

CIRCULATORY DISEASES

B. H. writes: I took out hospital insurance and find a rider attached to the policy saying they would not pay for any disease of the circulatory system. What are these diseases?

REPLY

Heart and blood vessel disorders. The most common are high blood pressure, stroke, coronary thrombosis, and hardening of the arteries.

MIGRAINE AND STRESS

L. C. B. writes: Can migraine in a 19 year old girl come from not getting enough rest?

REPLY

Yes. Other factors are frustration, worry, tension, too much competition, and other emotional stresses. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on migraine.

HEAVY OLDSTER

R. W. writes: Would reducing help an overweight woman of 81 with high blood pressure?

REPLY

Perhaps, but take it easy. Losing 3 pounds per year should be enough at your age.

SHOWER SHAMPOO

P. S. writes: Does shampooing under the shower cause excessive loss of hair?

REPLY

No. Look elsewhere for the cause of excessive hair loss.

FOOD AND PRESSURE

C. B. G. writes: Does eating chili or hot tamales make the blood pressure jump up?

REPLY

No, but many people prefer to blame food rather than their own constitution for hypertension and other ailments.

CARDIAC COUGH

A. L. writes: Is there any way to relieve heart cough?

REPLY

Yes, with digitalis, vasodilators, and diuretics. A cardiac cough is too serious to rely upon self-medication. See your physician.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

John Straley tells about a rich man's son who was so slow on the uptake it took him seven years to go through high school—yet he longed to go to college. The father reluctantly agreed to stake him IF he could answer a few simple questions. The first question propounded by Pop was "What's what?" "I don't know," admitted the son — and was promptly put to work in a menial job at Pop's plant.

Came the time for the son's first vacation, and off he went to the big city to see the sights. In a bar, a very beautiful girl suggested that he buy her a drink or two. The boy pointed to a mole on her shoulder and inquired, "What's that?"

"What's what?" asked the beautiful girl.

"Holy mackerel," gasped the boy. "If I'd known that—today I'd be in college!"

Children's Games

PARIS

"I'm a big kid," said John Frankenheimer. Indeed, he is. A boyish six-foot-four. "I used to build model raidroads. I've always liked playing with toy trains. Now I've got all these real trains to play with."

Frankenheimer, the movie director, is making a picture called "The Train," on the outskirts of Paris. This is the dramatization of a real episode during the late stages of the war when the Germans tried to kidnap all the modern French paintings out of the Jeu de Paume and sell them on the world market for, they hoped, half a billion dollars. They needed foreign exchange during the war. The underground got wind of it and stopped the train.

"We got real railroad men," said Frankenheimer happly. "You never saw a guy whip a train around like these guys. I've learned how to drive a train, pull the whistle. When I was a kid I used to line up six locomotives on my toy train set and ram them into each other. I never thought I'd be able to ram a real locomotive against another real locomotive."

"Are you going to blow up the train?" I asked. "All the directors are blowing up trains now. David Lean in 'Bridge on the River Kwai' and in 'Lawrence of Arabia'! You haven't got into the big leagues in the movie director dodge until you blow up a real train."

"No, no, the whole idea of this picture is not to blow up the train. After all, the paintings are on the train and we have to save the paintings."

Too bad. The motion picture industry, particularly that part of it characterized by Hollywood, is very expert at blowing things up or burning things down. The explosions and soaring flames in such pictures as "55 Days to Peking" or "The Guns of Navarone" are sometimes the most memorable things about them. The logistics of these pictures is impressive and not the least of the director's duties for this picture, which has among other things 400 extras dressed as Nazis skulking about, is, as Frankenheimer says, "to know which direction the Indians are coming from and where they're going."

Frankenheimer was one of the most brilliant of the young directors to come out of television and some of his "Playhouse 90's," notably "Old Man," are among the best dramas I ever saw on television. But as a movie director he has joined the Old Guard.

"I think the whole nouvelle vague is ridiculous," he said. "A bunch of guys who don't know about lighting or camera work. I hated 'Hiroshima, Mon Amour.' I saw it three times."

"Why see a picture you hate three times?"

He shrugged. "I frequently see pictures over and over to see if I can learn something from them."

He admires the French director Truffaud and the Italian Fellini and the Englishman Richardson, but harbors a low opinion of most of the "New Wave" of European directors.

"I think Hollywood is a great place to make movies. The facilities are there and the climate is great. I love to shoot on location. I hate to build sets. It's all so phoney."

Talking to Frankenheimer, you find the conversation has been studded with "I love" and "I hate." He is a violent fellow. I think he's dead wrong about the nouvelle vague and I said so.

Anyhow, I wish him luck with "The Train." I don't know how he can go wrong with a train. The motion picture industry started with "The Great Train Robbery," fattened on great train pictures like "The Lady Vanishes" and "Shanghai Express." I can never remember a bad train picture though I haven't seen them all. There's something about trains that brings out the kid in all directors and maybe that's why the pictures are so much fun.

Soviet Economy Seen In Trouble

That the Soviet economy is in greater trouble than suspected is the consensus of opinion following huge purchases of wheat by the Russians from Canada, Australia and just about every other producer except the United States—with frantic maneuvers under way in Washington to get on the bandwagon.

Coincidentally, there are reports from London that Moscow is unloading gold to raise money to pay for the wheat.

More diligent studies of the Soviet economy might have conditioned the West for the grain-buying splurge by the Kremlin. Less than a month ago, Khrushchev in a speech in Volgograd publicly blamed agricultural troubles on a shortage of fertilizer and the primitive Soviet irrigation system.

These shortcomings alone do not account for the fact the Soviet Union has been forced to buy $600 million worth of wheat from the West (not including the huge quantity Washington will no doubt let Khrushchev have). Severe weather conditions of last winter and last spring contributed to the shortage, but it cannot be denied that bureaucratic mismanagement was mainly responsible for the reversal of the grain surplus of the last decade.

If Khrushchev's age did not place a limit on his future service to the Kremlin, the Soviet Union's about face from a grain exporter to a heavy importer could do so.

It was the premier who specialized in the management of agriculture over the years, and who promised in 1957 that by 1960 the Russian people would be eating as much meat as the Americans.

'Boy—You're a Strange Lookin' Bird'

Some Congressmen Are Passive On Selling Surplus Wheat To Reds

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Though some congressmen are chary about indorsing the proposed sale of surplus wheat to Soviet Russia, there was significantly little opposition when cabinet members discussed the idea behind closed doors with members of the House Foreign Affairs and Agriculture committees.

Only one House member, Ralph Hardin, D-Ida., seemed adamantly opposed. He commented with a macabre touch: "Why not sell the Russians our surplus tobacco? They might contract lung cancer."

Republicans Frances Bolton, Ohio, and H. R. Gross, Iowa, also asked some acid questions. Inquired Mrs. Bolton: "Aren't we playing into their hands by feeding them? An army is said to travel on its stomach. If we sell wheat to Russia, isn't this indirect military help?"

"We are now concluding a nuclear test ban treaty with Soviet Russia," said Gross. "If we sell them wheat to help them economically, doesn't that practically mark the beginning of the end of the Cold War to protect our own economy? I would want to give this step a long, hard look before we take it."

However, two other Republicans, Robert Dole, Kans., and Robert Barry, N. Y., approved the proposed wheat shipments, with reservations. Declared Dole: "If this will help our farmers and won't hurt the country, I am for it."

Both Dole and Barry agreed with Bill Barrett, D-Pa., that it should be a "hard cash" deal of "wheat for gold" with little or no long-time credit.

"It's as simple as this: We have a surplus of wheat and Russia has a surplus of gold," declared Barrett. "Their gold will help our imbalance of payments, caused by our outflow of American dollars. If we make a Yankee deal on this basis, I don't see how we can lose. But I want to see the contract that is drawn up before agreeing to support it."

Farmers Are Favorable

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said that the Administration asked no more than this, adding that President Kennedy wanted only to "sound out" Congress. The President himself had not made up his mind about a wheat deal with Russia, nor had the Soviets as yet made any official overtures to the U. S., he said.

"About two out of three farmers I have talked to favor unloading this surplus wheat," reported Freeman. "I think they fear that the surplus plus the recent lifting of mandatory controls on production may drive the price of wheat down to perhaps as low as $1 a bushel. That would be ruinous."

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, who also attended the closed door meeting, said that American business men, as well as farmers, probably would approve a wheat contract with Russia if it improved our international balance of payments.

"As a former business man, I feel it is better to sell this wheat now, when we can do so at a profit, rather than risk a future inventory loss on the 1-billion bushel surplus," declared Hodges. "We are in an advantageous position and can push a good bargain.

"Russia is desperately in need of this wheat. They had a bad crop this year, due to wheather conditions. The United States may as well get this business, rather than stand by and see Russia deal elsewhere."

Hodges added that we now sell non-strategic exports, such as machinery, etc., behind the Iron Curtain and that wheat would fall within this category.

"I can't imagine how this would hurt the American image abroad, but we can get hurt domestically if we continue to hoard huge wheat surpluses," commented the Secretary of Commerce.

Both Hodges and Freeman insisted, however, that they were not trying to sell Congress, but only "sounding out" the committees to guide the President. Nor did they indicate how such a deal might be handled, except to say that it probably would be transacted through private shippers, rather than the government.

They estimated that the total amount of wheat we could ship woud be between one-third and one-half of our billion-bushel surplus. They also agreed that a straight sale probably would be the best policy, rather than shipping the wheat under the Public Law 480 program, wherein we are paid in foreign currencies.

The Governor urged Anderson to take a rest and think the decision over a few weeks . . . . The treasury Department is ready with stand-by literature in case it should become necessary to devalue the dollar to stop the gold drain. Though no such drastic action is planned, the literature has been prepared just in case. It declares: "The President has acted decisively to stop the outflow of U. S. gold abroad. You have lost nothing . . . . Your food costs the same, your rent is the same . . . . Your newspaper, your bus fare, your railroad or airplane tickets cost the same." . . . . Texas Congressman Wright Patman's next report on tax-exempt foundations will charge that the ten Rockefeller Foundations made $47 million in tax-free capital gains during the 1962 stock market plunge, while other investors were losing heavily. The Rockefeller Foundations now have total assets over $500,000,000 . . . . Attorney General Robert Kennedy will convene a blue-ribbon grand jury to investigate gambling in the nation's capital.

Hong Kong: The Challenge And The Warning

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

The free world's free enterprisers would soon move a vote of thanks to Mao Tse-tung if they halfway understood the real meaning of this strange and wonderful city.

The point is that Kong Kong shows, in the most startling manner what Chinese can do if you only give them a chance. Close to 3 million of them have poured into this confined space since the Japanese surrender.

Any economist on earth, if asked to predict the results of such an influx, would have confidently forecast death by starvation for more than three-quarters of the immigrants. There is nothing here except a fine harbor and an honest and permissive British government. There is not even enough water to wash in. But here are millions of ingenious, intelligent, and industrious Chinese. Almost literally with their naked hands (for the flight capital taking refuge in Hong Kong has mostly gone into real estate speculation) these Chinese have made Hong Kong the great manufacturing city which now troubles the world trade pattern of almost every light industry.

The West German "economic miracle" is a poor, piddling, petty thing compared to this phenomenon of Hong Kong. If you reflect upon its significance, Hong Kong is a cause for melancholy as well as a warning to other peoples. It is both at once, in fact, because it suggests what the Chinese people might have accomplished and may yet accomplish without Chairman Mao.

Very few parochial Westerners know it; but truth for close on 2,000 years, China was always the strongest and richest power on earth whenever China had a reasonably efficient central government. The old Chinese society was really too successful. For this very reason, it took too long for the rich cake of ancient custom to be broken and the preparations for a new start to be made, after the old China felt the resistless impact of Western industrial strength.

But the cake of custom had at length broken, and all was in readiness for a new start by the end of the second World War. If the Chinese people had then had half a chance, scores of Hong Kongs would have been created by now, in the commercial coastal cities and in the industrial centers of the interior.

These numerous Hong Kongs would in turn have generated, by the sheer suction of their own needs, a strong Chinese heavy industry based upon the plentiful resources of coal and iron which the Communists have never managed to exploit efficiently. And the Chinese farmers, who are the best in the world, would now be meeting the food needs of this transformed China by the same intensive use of fertilizer that has produced such astonishing results in Japan.

The same economists who would have predicted death by starvation for three-quarters of the immigrants into Hong Kong will no doubt smile in a superior way at this picture of the China that might have been. But these economists, like the vast majority of other Westerners, do not understand the foundations of China's greatness.

There are four, as follows: the family system; an incomparable talent for capital-creation; a proper respect for fertilizer; and the habit of working together, in labor corvees or otherwise. Mao's Stalinist-Communism has attacked the family system, forbidden individual capital-creation, removed the farmers' incentives for keeping the fields in good heart, and grossly misused the labor corvees.

In truth, Mao's Stalinist-Communism might well have been specially designed to frustrate the genius of the Chinese people. If you consider the probable impact on other industrial nations of the China that might have been, you will see why a kind of wry gratitude to Chairman Mao is certainly in order. If Chinese can make Japanese come to them to buy cheap toys, which is just what heppened here, God knows what they would do to the rest of us if they were given their heads.

But Mao has not only frustrated people he leads. He has also the extraordinary genius of the brought China to a worse pass than China has ever experienced from floods and droughts and wicked rulers and foreign invasions and all the other harsh chances of Chinese history. This is now the central political fact in Asia, and it demands further analysis.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MME. NHU'S PASSPORT — When Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu began her travels away from strife ridden Viet Nam a few weeks ago, it became known that she planned to visit the United States during her pleasure jaunt. Mme. Nhu is the wife of the brother of the president of Viet Nam and her outspoken comments on affairs of that nation have caused deep concern in the capitals of the Western World.

At a State Department press briefing on the Mme. Nhu's travel plans, a spokesman innocently replying to a reporter's question said she would not need to apply for a new visa because she had been granted one a year ago. He added that it was a "diplomatic visa."

How, reporters quickly asked, could Mme. Nhu be given a diplomatic visa when the U. S. has been at pains to downgrade her political remarks on grounds that she held no office in her country's government?

The spokesman said Mme. Nhu was given a diplomatic visa because she carried a diplomatic passport—one issued by the government which her brother-in-law heads. Any further information on that matter, he said, would have to be gotten from the Vietnamese Embassy. However, that place was no help at all since virtually everyone of any stature at the legation has resigned in protest against events in Viet Nam.

Heat On For Program To Eradicate Tuberculosis

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The heat is on for a program to eradicate tuberculosis. This possibility may be just around the corner, considering the progress made in the last 60 years in conquering this infection. The number one problem is to uncover those with the disease so they can be treated successfuliy and kept from infecting others.

In the past, we have relied upon mass chest X-ray surveys for the detection of unknown cases. The tuberculin skin test is not as costly and is more logical, especially in children. It is the person with a positive test who develops tuberculosis. This is not a common occurrence, considering the large number with positive tests and the relatively small number of individuals with tuberculosis. But since those with a negative test rarely if ever get the adult type of the disease, the field is narrowed considerably by watching the positive reactors.

This test consists of injecting an extract of the causative tubercle bacilli into the skin. The site becomes red when positive, indicating that the individual harbors a focus of tuberculosis organisms, even though he is not ill at the time. To avoid misunderstanding, we must stress the fact that a positive tuberculin test is not synonomous with having tuberculosis. It means the individual has made contact with the micro-organisms which may or may not have caused an active infection.

A positive test, especially in infants, should be followed up with X-rays, to determine whether tuberculosis of the lungs has developed. If a previous test was negative and now is positive, the tyke is treated as though the disease existed.

Children and adults with a positive tuberculin reaction should have the chest X-rayed at regular intervals. So long as we have tuberculin positive persons, we shall continue to have active cases, and tuberculosis is passed on to the next generation through contact.

But this is only part of the program. A person with a positive result should do everything possible to prevent the disease from becoming active. Poor general health lowers resistance to the bacilli. They are more likely to gain a foothold when a person harbors other infections, eats an inadequate diet, and lives under substandard and unhygienic surroundings.

TOMORROW: Enuresis, a complex problem.

CIRCULATORY DISEASES

B. H. writes: I took out hospital insurance and find a rider attached to the policy saying they would not pay for any disease of the circulatory system. What are these diseases?

REPLY

Heart and blood vessel disorders. The most common are high blood pressure, stroke, coronary thrombosis, and hardening of the arteries.

MIGRAINE AND STRESS

L. C. B. writes: Can migraine in a 19 year old girl come from not getting enough rest?

REPLY

Yes. Other factors are frustration, worry, tension, too much competition, and other emotional stresses. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on migraine.

HEAVY OLDSTER

R. W. writes: Would reducing help an overweight woman of 81 with high blood pressure?

REPLY

Perhaps, but take it easy. Losing 3 pounds per year should be enough at your age.

SHOWER SHAMPOO

P. S. writes: Does shampooing under the shower cause excessive loss of hair?

REPLY

No. Look elsewhere for the cause of excessive hair loss.

FOOD AND PRESSURE

C. B. G. writes: Does eating chili or hot tamales make the blood pressure jump up?

REPLY

No, but many people prefer to blame food rather than their own constitution for hypertension and other ailments.

CARDIAC COUGH

A. L. writes: Is there any way to relieve heart cough?

REPLY

Yes, with digitalis, vasodilators, and diuretics. A cardiac cough is too serious to rely upon self-medication. See your physician.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Children's Games

By John Crosby

PARIS

"I'm a big kid," said John Frankenheimer. Indeed, he is. A boyish six-foot-four. "I used to build model raidroads. I've always liked playing with toy trains. Now I've got all these real trains to play with."

Frankenheimer, the movie director, is making a picture called "The Train," on the outskirts of Paris. This is the dramatization of a real episode during the late stages of the war when the Germans tried to kidnap all the modern French paintings out of the Jeu de Paume and sell them on the world market for, they hoped, half a billion dollars. They needed foreign exchange during the war. The underground got wind of it and stopped the train.

"We got real railroad men," said Frankenheimer happly. "You never saw a guy whip a train around like these guys. I've learned how to drive a train, pull the whistle. When I was a kid I used to line up six locomotives on my toy train set and ram them into each other. I never thought I'd be able to ram a real locomotive against another real locomotive."

"Are you going to blow up the train?" I asked. "All the directors are blowing up trains now. David Lean in 'Bridge on the River Kwai' and in 'Lawrence of Arabia'! You haven't got into the big leagues in the movie director dodge until you blow up a real train."

"No, no, the whole idea of this picture is not to blow up the train. After all, the paintings are on the train and we have to save the paintings."

Too bad. The motion picture industry, particularly that part of it characterized by Hollywood, is very expert at blowing things up or burning things down. The explosions and soaring flames in such pictures as "55 Days to Peking" or "The Guns of Navarone" are sometimes the most memorable things about them. The logistics of these pictures is impressive and not the least of the director's duties for this picture, which has among other things 400 extras dressed as Nazis skulking about, is, as Frankenheimer says, "to know which direction the Indians are coming from and where they're going."

Frankenheimer was one of the most brilliant of the young directors to come out of television and some of his "Playhouse 90's," notably "Old Man," are among the best dramas I ever saw on television. But as a movie director he has joined the Old Guard.

"I think the whole nouvelle vague is ridiculous," he said. "A bunch of guys who don't know about lighting or camera work. I hated 'Hiroshima, Mon Amour.' I saw it three times."

"Why see a picture you hate three times?"

He shrugged. "I frequently see pictures over and over to see if I can learn something from them."

He admires the French director Truffaud and the Italian Fellini and the Englishman Richardson, but harbors a low opinion of most of the "New Wave" of European directors.

"I think Hollywood is a great place to make movies. The facilities are there and the climate is great. I love to shoot on location. I hate to build sets. It's all so phoney."

Talking to Frankenheimer, you find the conversation has been studded with "I love" and "I hate." He is a violent fellow. I think he's dead wrong about the nouvelle vague and I said so.

Anyhow, I wish him luck with "The Train." I don't know how he can go wrong with a train. The motion picture industry started with "The Great Train Robbery," fattened on great train pictures like "The Lady Vanishes" and "Shanghai Express." I can never remember a bad train picture though I haven't seen them all. There's something about trains that brings out the kid in all directors and maybe that's why the pictures are so much fun.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

John Straley tells about a rich man's son who was so slow on the uptake it took him seven years to go through high school—yet he longed to go to college. The father reluctantly agreed to stake him IF he could answer a few simple questions. The first question propounded by Pop was "What's what?" "I don't know," admitted the son — and was promptly put to work in a menial job at Pop's plant.

Came the time for the son's first vacation, and off he went to the big city to see the sights. In a bar, a very beautiful girl suggested that he buy her a drink or two. The boy pointed to a mole on her shoulder and inquired, "What's that?"

"What's what?" asked the beautiful girl.

"Holy mackerel," gasped the boy. "If I'd known that—today I'd be in college!"

Rev. William Harpold, pastor, welcomed the congregation, and expressed pleasure in having the Methodist Church, St. George's Episcopal Church, and St. Patrick's Catholic Church represented in Post 72 membership.

The Junior Choir of the Methodist Church sang, and the Explorer Chorus, recently formed, sang several selections under the direction of Rev. Mr. Harpold.

Ralph Wilson read a Scripture passage and William Bowen led the prayer. The Offertory anthem was presented by the chorus.

Wade introduced William Durland, Potomac Council Scout commissioner, who congratulated the unit for its past year's performance. He spoke of the desire for understanding the Scouts' place in the community. Teamwork and fair-mindedness, Durland said, are part of the Scouting program.

Durland then presented the Scout charter for another year to Lawrence Stowell, institutional representative.

Two long-time area Scouters, Dr. John Dunkle and Kendrick Hogden, principal of Mt. Savage High School, spoke of the values offered in Scouting.

Committeemen who will guide and assist the unit are Charles Robertson, Rev. Mr. Harpole, William Haus, Carl A. Pressman, and William Bowen Sr.

Newly-elected Post officers introduced were Darrell Blank, president, Robert Robertson, vice president; Ralph Wilson, secretary, and William Bowen, treasurer.

A fellowship hour followed the evening service.

Oklahoma Voted Number One College Team By UPI Coaches' Board

Sooners On Top For First Time In Five Years

Alabama, Texas Follow In First Weekly Ratings

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oklahoma is back on top for the first time in five years.

The Sooners, upset winners of Southern California's defending national champions last Saturday, were voted the nation's No. 1 college football team today in the season's first weekly ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Alabama was second and Texas third in the balloting of the 35 leading coaches whose ratings have become accepted as the most authoritative in college football. Two Big Ten teams, Northwestern and Wisconsin, were next in the fourth and fifth spots.

Southern California, which was ranked tops in the land last year after a 10-0 season and a Rose Bowl victory, were no higher than ninth this week, behind Georgia Tech (No. 6), Navy (No. 7) and Pittsburgh (No. 8).

Tied For 10th

This week's top 10 group actually was a "top 11" as Ohio State and Nebraska finished in a tie for 10th place.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners received 22 first-place votes from the 35-man UPI rating board. Alabama was the top choice of seven coaches; Texas was picked by three and Northwestern, Navy and Pitt by one each.

This season's first two victories over Clemson and Southern California indicate that Oklahoma is back on football's glory road.

The Sooners won national championships in 1955 and 1956, dropped to fourth in 1957, to fifth place in 1958, and then went unranked three straight seasons. They moved up to seventh place last season with an 8-2 record.

Sooners Idle Saturday

Coincidentally, the last time Oklahoma topped the UPI weekly ratings was exactly five years ago on this date, Sept. 30, 1958.

The Sooners are idle next Saturday and then resume play against third-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on Oct. 12.

With points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places, Oklahoma had 324 out of a possible 350. Alabama had 270 points, Texas 245, Northwestern 182 and Wisconsin 176.

Mississippi headed the "second 10" group in 12th place, followed in order by Penn State, Air Force Academy and Oregon State. Michigan State and Missouri were tied for 16th place; Texas Christian was 18th, and Duke and Rice were tied for 19th.

The best of the coming weekend's match-ups between high-ranking teams pits Southern California (No. 9) vs. Michigan State (tied for No. 16) on the West Coast Friday night.

HEADING FOR THAT BIG ASSIGNMENT—Pitcher Sandy Koufax gags it up as he poses with the big baseball painted on the side of the Los Angeles Dodgers' plane, as the National League champs left for New York yesterday for the World Series with the Yankees. Koufax, a lefthander who won 25 regular season games for the Dodgers, has a slight cold but club spokesmen said it is not expected to have any effect on his Series pitching assignments. He is slated to open the Series tomorrow. (AP Photofax)

Lombardi Worried By Packers' Mistakes, But Still Eyes Title

Green Bay Making Flock Of Mental; Physical Errors

By GENE W. HINTZ
United Press International

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Coach Vince Lombardi said Monday he still felt his Green Bay Packers are in "great position" to go all the way to a third successive National Football League championship.

But he attached a big "if."

"Since I've been here, we've made very, very few mental and physical mistakes," Lombardi said. "This year there's been a flock of them. There have been more fumbles than since I've been here.

"Bart Starr has nine interceptions—as many as all of last year. We've been dropping passes when we should have caught them. If we continue this way, it's going to catch up with us. We just can't go on like this and hope to win."

Lombardi's Packers fumbled five times and had two passes intercepted in Sunday's 31-20 victory over Baltimore. But the Colts were just as accommodating. All five Baltimore fumbles were recovered by Green Bay and the Packers also intercepted two of quarterback Johnny Unitas' passes. The Colts recovered only three of the Green Bay fumbles.

"Both teams were trying to give the game away," said Lombardi. "It was a great one to win—especially playing that badly."

Lombardi said he felt before the season began if Green Bay could win two of three games at the start "we'd be in good shape."

"I still feel that way," he said. "This was a good hard - hitting football game. That's the way we have to play every game—except for the fumbles. All the other teams feel we're still the team to beat, although we're not in first place."

Lombardi said he figured "anybody" was still in the Western Division NFL race."

"Don't count the Colts out of it just because they've lost two," he said. "And the same goes for Detroit. Of course, some one is going to have to beat Chicago and the Vikings—they score a lot of points. They've got a real good football team."

Machen To Fight Johnson Oct. 12

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Boxer Eddie Machen, once ranked first among heavyweight fighters, has signed to meet veteran Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh Oct. 12 at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, it was announced Monday by civic boxing enterprises.

Thad Spencer, ranked No. 1 by the Western Boxing Association, will meet Jimmy Fletcher of Los Angeles in a companion 10-rounder.

Fernando Rallies To Stop Contender

TOKYO (UPI)—Larry Fernando, third-ranking Philippines junior lightweight, rallied Monday night to stop top-ranking Japanese lightweight contender Kazuo Takayama in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Korakuen gymnasium.

Takayama, who previously had knocked out Fernando twice, took the first three rounds with a slashing body attack, and floored the Filipino for an eight count with a left hook to the body in the fourth.

Takayama appeared helpless. He leaned against the ropes with his hands down and his seconds threw in the towel.

Referee Hiroyuki Tezaki raised Fernado's hand as winner at 19 seconds of the ninth.

Fernando weighed 132¾ to Takayama's 134½.

Team Involved In Crash Landing Will Fly Again

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—Coach Grant Teaff, whose McMurry College football team had a close call Sunday in the crash landing of a chartered airplane, said Monday the team would fly to Youngstown, Ohio, for a game next Saturday.

None of the players and coaches suffered any serious injury when their DC-3 plane bounced and skidded to a landing at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., with a broken landing gear en route home from a game against Northeast Louisiana State at Monroe, La.

Some of the players were quoted after the incident as saying they wouldn't fly again. Parents of two of them drove to Shreveport to get them.

But Monday, Teaff ascribed such comment to "spell of the moment talk," and said "sure, we'll fly" when asked if the team would go by plane for Saturday afternoon's scheduled game with Youngstown University.

"We'll leave here Thursday and fly back home immediately after the game," the coach said.

"Everyone is fine, including the player (James Maddox) who suffered some from shock, and everyone is ready to go again," Teaff said.

Dodd Claims Ivy League Heaviest Football Spender

ATLANTA (AP) — The Ivy League spends more money to maintain its football teams than any other college conference, Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech said Monday.

Dodd singled out Harvard as an example of what he termed the vast expenditure a school will make to maintain even an underemphasized program.

"Harvard lays out over $1 million a year to field a football team," Dodd told the Atlanta Touchdown Club. "That's money the school itself must provide because the athletic department can't pay its own way."

Discussing the Southeastern Conference, Dodd said "now obviously, none of the schools in our conference can afford to spend a half million or even a hundred thousand. And so it's up to us to pay our own way.

"And the secret to that, gentlemen, is to get on top and stay there, because once you're down, like Tulane and Vanderbilt, and can't draw any crowds and make any money for your recruiting program, you're faced with a terrific problem."

The Tech coach said the increased competition for the best players has caused the cost of recruiting to accelerate tremendously.

RECORD CATCH

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The heaviest recorded fresh-water fish ever caught in the Western Hemisphere was a 279-pound "Alligator" gar taken by Bill Valverde in the Rio Grande River, Dec. 2, 1951.

MANEATER CAUGHT

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) —Alfred Dean caught a White (man-eater) Shark, weighing a record 2,664 pounds off Ceduna, South Australia, April 21, 1959.

Orr Will Miss Game With Bears

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jimmy Orr, flanker back for the Baltimore Colts, will be out of action when the National Football League club meets the Chicago Bears Sunday.

Orr sprained his knee on an interception by the Green Bay Packers in last week's game and had to be helped from the field.

"I don't believe Orr can play this week," coach Don Shula said Monday. "He apparently is the only one (who was hurt Sunday) who will miss the next game."

Orr led the Colt pass receivers last season with 55 receptions. The Colts' second best receiver, Raymond Berry, remains on the injured list with a dislocated shoulder. Berry caught 51 Baltimore passes last year. He has been sidelined for the past two weeks.

FIRST PINCH-HITTER

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The late first baseman Jack Doyle was credited with being baseball's first pinch-hitter when he singled for Cleveland at Brooklyn, June 7, 1892.

BOSTON (UPI—Major league baseball's longest game (in innings) was called for darkness at the end of the 26th with Brooklyn and Boston tied 1-1, May 1, 1920.

Halfback Rick Hare took a pair of TD tosses from quarterback Mike Baker to account for all of the Little Sentinels' scoring.

McHan Reports To Forty-Niners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners got quarterback insurance Monday when veteran Leroy McHan reported.

McHan, obtained from the Baltimore Colts on waivers, will work behind John Brodie at the quarterback slot. Brodie is suffering from a sore right arm and is considered a question mark for next Sunday's game with Detroit.

New head coach Jack Christiansen said that Bobby Waters would be used at quarterback this week if Brodie is unable to go. It would take McHan a week or more to learn the Forty Niner plays.

Navy Leads Pitt In Lambert Voting

NEW YORK (UPI) —Navy outpolled Pittsburgh to rank No. 1 among the major eastern college football powers Monday in the first ballot for the 27th annual Lambert Trophy.

WMI League Opens 37th Soccer Campaign Today

Beall High Hosts Aggies; Valley At Mt. Savage

A cast of booters headed by Keith Price, the Welshman with the educated toe who kicked nine goals to pace the loop's scorers last season, lead Beall High School into action today as the Mountaineers open defense of their 1962 title when they battle Coach "Stoney" Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies at Frostburg.

This game and the Valley at Mt. Savage contest this afternoon launch the 37th race of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League.

The league had two unbeaten teams last year—Beall and Valley—but Beall, coached by "Ebbie" Finzel since 1935, won out with a 5-0-3 record against the Black Knight's 3-0-5.

Six of the 20 games last season ended in tie scores and Valley figured in five of the even-Stephen tilts.

Bruce High's Bulldogs, coached by Leonard Ritchie, are idle today, but they'll swing into action Friday against Valley in Lonaconing.

Many fans believe Mt. Savage's Indians are the "team to watch" this season because they have 12 letterman back in harness and Coach John Thomas is hopefui that Mt. Savage will win its first championship.

Always a threat is Valley, which has finished on top eight times in the past ten years with John C. Meyers, tutor of 11 championship teams, still at the helm.

Alco Homecoming Slated Saturday

Saturday's game at the Stadium between Allegany and South Hagerstown has been designated as the Campers' 1963 homecoming game, and a special program is being planned for the "old grads."

A dance in the school gymnasium will follow the game, which gets under way at 8 p. m.

The CVAL battle should be one of the top local football attractions of the season. Allegany has a 3-1 record, and South High's Rebels have three wins and a tie in four starts.

Nugent Spends Time With Terp Reserves

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland football coach Tom Nugent spent his time Monday with the third team. "Still looking for football players," he said.

The Terrapins, after two straight losses, will be looking for their first victory of the season when they meet Duke in a nationally televised Atlantic Coast Conference game in Richmond, Va., Saturday.

Nugent's assistants supervised the first two units' light workouts in which the squads got their first look at Duke's offivensive and defensive tactics.

The third team scrimmaged up and down the field against a freshman eleven.

Birds Set Two Fielding Marks

Aparicio Breaks Rizzuto's Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles set two major league club fielding records during the 1963 season and shortstop Luis Aparicio established one American League mark, according to unofficial statistics.

The Orioles made 99 errors in 162 games for a fielding percentage of .9838. The previous record of 100 errors and a .9831 percentage were set by the Cincinnati Reds during a 154-game schedule in 1958.

Aparicio, obtained last winter in a trade with the Chicago White Sox, made 13 errors at shortstop while playing in 144 games. Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees set the previous low of 14 in 1950, but played in 155 contests.

Aparicio also just missed setting a league record for fielding percentage, winding up with .981. One less error and he would have exceeded the record of .9823 by Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians in 1947.

The best of the coming weekend's match-ups between high-ranking teams pits Southern California (No. 9) vs. Michigan State (tied for No. 16) on the West Coast Friday night.

HEADING FOR THAT BIG ASSIGNMENT—Pitcher Sandy Koufax gags it up as he poses with the big baseball painted on the side of the Los Angeles Dodgers' plane, as the National League champs left for New York yesterday for the World Series with the Yankees. Koufax, a lefthander who won 25 regular season games for the Dodgers, has a slight cold but club spokesmen said it is not expected to have any effect on his Series pitching assignments. He is slated to open the Series tomorrow. (AP Photofax)

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson, now in retirement, appears to have lost his lure with his countrymen, both at the gate and as a news source.

Ingo flew from his home in Switzerland last Saturday to box some exhibition rounds with Lennart Risberg and Ingo's brother Rolf, at the town of Kristinehamn.

Lombardi Worried By Packers' Mistakes, But Still Eyes Title

Green Bay Making Flock Of Mental; Physical Errors

By GENE W. HINTZ
United Press International

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Coach Vince Lombardi said Monday he still felt his Green Bay Packers are in "great position" to go all the way to a third successive National Football League championship.

But he attached a big "if."

"Since I've been here, we've made very, very few mental and physical mistakes," Lombardi said. "This year there's been a flock of them. There have been more fumbles than since I've been here.

"Bart Starr has nine interceptions—as many as all of last year. We've been dropping passes when we should have caught them. If we continue this way, it's going to catch up with us. We just can't go on like this and hope to win."

Lombardi's Packers fumbled five times and had two passes intercepted in Sunday's 31-20 victory over Baltimore. But the Colts were just as accommodating. All five Baltimore fumbles were recovered by Green Bay and the Packers also intercepted two of quarterback Johnny Unitas' passes. The Colts recovered only three of the Green Bay fumbles.

"Both teams were trying to give the game away," said Lombardi. "It was a great one to win—especially playing that badly."

Lombardi said he felt before the season began if Green Bay could win two of three games at the start "we'd be in good shape."

"I still feel that way," he said. "This was a good hard - hitting football game. That's the way we have to play every game—except for the fumbles. All the other teams feel we're still the team to beat, although we're not in first place."

Lombardi said he figured "anybody" was still in the Western Division NFL race."

"Don't count the Colts out of it just because they've lost two," he said. "And the same goes for Detroit. Of course, some one is going to have to beat Chicago and the Vikings—they score a lot of points. They've got a real good football team."

Machen To Fight Johnson Oct. 12

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Boxer Eddie Machen, once ranked first among heavyweight fighters, has signed to meet veteran Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh Oct. 12 at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, it was announced Monday by civic boxing enterprises.

Thad Spencer, ranked No. 1 by the Western Boxing Association, will meet Jimmy Fletcher of Los Angeles in a companion 10-rounder.

Fernando Rallies To Stop Contender

TOKYO (UPI)—Larry Fernando, third-ranking Philippines junior lightweight, rallied Monday night to stop top-ranking Japanese lightweight contender Kazuo Takayama in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Korakuen gymnasium.

Takayama, who previously had knocked out Fernando twice, took the first three rounds with a slashing body attack, and floored the Filipino for an eight count with a left hook to the body in the fourth.

Takayama appeared helpless. He leaned against the ropes with his hands down and his seconds threw in the towel.

Referee Hiroyuki Tezaki raised Fernado's hand as winner at 19 seconds of the ninth.

Fernando weighed 132¾ to Takayama's 134½.

Team Involved In Crash Landing Will Fly Again

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—Coach Grant Teaff, whose McMurry College football team had a close call Sunday in the crash landing of a chartered airplane, said Monday the team would fly to Youngstown, Ohio, for a game next Saturday.

None of the players and coaches suffered any serious injury when their DC-3 plane bounced and skidded to a landing at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., with a broken landing gear en route home from a game against Northeast Louisiana State at Monroe, La.

Some of the players were quoted after the incident as saying they wouldn't fly again. Parents of two of them drove to Shreveport to get them.

But Monday, Teaff ascribed such comment to "spell of the moment talk," and said "sure, we'll fly" when asked if the team would go by plane for Saturday afternoon's scheduled game with Youngstown University.

"We'll leave here Thursday and fly back home immediately after the game," the coach said.

Dodd Claims Ivy League Heaviest Football Spender

ATLANTA (AP) — The Ivy League spends more money to maintain its football teams than any other college conference, Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech said Monday.

Dodd singled out Harvard as an example of what he termed the vast expenditure a school will make to maintain even an underemphasized program.

"Harvard lays out over $1 million a year to field a football team," Dodd told the Atlanta Touchdown Club. "That's money the school itself must provide because the athletic department can't pay its own way."

Discussing the Southeastern Conference, Dodd said "now obviously, none of the schools in our conference can afford to spend a half million or even a hundred thousand. And so it's up to us to pay our own way.

"And the secret to that, gentlemen, is to get on top and stay there, because once you're down, like Tulane and Vanderbilt, and can't draw any crowds and make any money for your recruiting program, you're faced with a terrific problem."

The Tech coach said the increased competition for the best players has caused the cost of recruiting to accelerate tremendously.

RECORD CATCH

MANEATER CAUGHT

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) —Alfred Dean caught a White (man-eater) Shark, weighing a record 2,664 pounds off Ceduna, South Australia, April 21, 1959.

Orr Will Miss Game With Bears

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jimmy Orr, flanker back for the Baltimore Colts, will be out of action when the National Football League club meets the Chicago Bears Sunday.

Orr sprained his knee on an interception by the Green Bay Packers in last week's game and had to be helped from the field.

"I don't believe Orr can play this week," coach Don Shula said Monday. "He apparently is the only one (who was hurt Sunday) who will miss the next game."

Orr led the Colt pass receivers last season with 55 receptions. The Colts' second best receiver, Raymond Berry, remains on the injured list with a dislocated shoulder. Berry caught 51 Baltimore passes last year. He has been sidelined for the past two weeks.

Keyser, Bruce And Fort Hill Jayvees Win

All Three Score Shutout Victories

Keyser's unbeaten and unscored upon junior varsity football team defeated Romney 13-0 yesterday at Clark Field in Keyser for its fourth straight triumph.

The Bruce Jayvees blanked Beall 18-0 at Frostburg for their first win in three starts, and the Fort Hill junior varsity upped its record to 3-1 with a 12-0 triumph over LaSalle at the Stadium.

Chuck Hart ran 60 yards for Keyser's first touchdown in the first period, then rambled 57 yards to set up the second score in the third frame. Quarterback John Fox went over from the eight for the six-pointer.

After battling Beall on scoreless terms in the first half, Bruce exploded for three TDs in the final two periods. David Shaw and John Prado tallied on one-yard thrusts, and Johnny Wiltison raced 20 yards for six points. Wiltison preceded his touchdown romp with a 40-yard effort.

Halfback Rick Hare took a pair of TD tosses from quarterback Mike Baker to account for all of the Little Sentinels' scoring.

McHan Reports To Forty-Niners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niners got quarterback insurance Monday when veteran Leroy McHan reported.

McHan, obtained from the Baltimore Colts on waivers, will work behind John Brodie at the quarterback slot. Brodie is suffering from a sore right arm and is considered a question mark for next Sunday's game with Detroit.

New head coach Jack Christiansen said that Bobby Waters would be used at quarterback this week if Brodie is unable to go. It would take McHan a week or more to learn the Forty Niner plays.

Navy Leads Pitt In Lambert Voting

NEW YORK (UPI) —Navy outpolled Pittsburgh to rank No. 1 among the major eastern college football powers Monday in the first ballot for the 27th annual Lambert Trophy.

The Middies were rated 9.4 out of a possible 10 by eastern football writers, coaches and sportscasters to edge the Panthers, who had a 9.3 Both teams are unbeaten in two outings this season. Navy had five first place votes and Pitt two.

Penn State, winner of last year's trophy, finished third in the balloting with one first place vote and a rating of 8.4. Army ranked fourth and Syracuse fifth.

WMI League Opens 37th Soccer Campaign Today

Beall High Hosts Aggies; Valley At Mt. Savage

A cast of booters headed by Keith Price, the Welshman with the educated toe who kicked nine goals to pace the loop's scorers last season, lead Beall High School into action today as the Mountaineers open defense of their 1962 title when they battle Coach "Stoney" Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies at Frostburg.

This game and the Valley at Mt. Savage contest this afternoon launch the 37th race of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League.

The league had two unbeaten teams last year—Beall and Valley—but Beall, coached by "Ebbie" Finzel since 1935, won out with a 5-0-3 record against the Black Knight's 3-0-5.

Six of the 20 games last season ended in tie scores and Valley figured in five of the even-Stephen tilts.

Bruce High's Bulldogs, coached by Leonard Ritchie, are idle today, but they'll swing into action Friday against Valley in Lonaconing.

Many fans believe Mt. Savage's Indians are the "team to watch" this season because they have 12 letterman back in harness and Coach John Thomas is hopeful that Mt. Savage will win its first championship.

Always a threat is Valley, which has finished on top eight times in the past ten years with John C. Meyers, tutor of 11 championship teams, still at the helm.

Alco Homecoming Slated Saturday

Saturday's game at the Stadium between Allegany and South Hagerstown has been designated as the Campers' 1963 homecoming game, and a special program is being planned for the "old grads."

A dance in the school gymnasium will follow the game, which gets under way at 8 p. m.

The CVAL battle should be one of the top local football attractions of the season. Allegany has a 3-1 record, and South High's Rebels have three wins and a tie in four starts.

Nugent Spends Time With Terp Reserves

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland football coach Tom Nugent spent his time Monday with the third team. "Still looking for football players," he said.

The Terrapins, after two straight losses, will be looking for their first victory of the season when they meet Duke in a nationally televised Atlantic Coast Conference game in Richmond, Va., Saturday.

Nugent's assistants supervised the first two units' light workouts in which the squads got their first look at Duke's offivensive and defensive tactics.

The third team scrimmaged up and down the field against a freshman eleven.

Birds Set Two Fielding Marks

Aparicio Breaks Rizzuto's Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles set two major league club fielding records during the 1963 season and shortstop Luis Aparicio established one American League mark, according to unofficial statistics.

The Orioles made 99 errors in 162 games for a fielding percentage of .9838. The previous record of 100 errors and a .9831 percentage were set by the Cincinnati Reds during a 154-game schedule in 1958.

Aparicio, obtained last winter in a trade with the Chicago White Sox, made 13 errors at shortstop while playing in 144 games. Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees set the previous low of 14 in 1950, but played in 155 contests.

Aparicio also just missed setting a league record for fielding percentage, winding up with .981. One less error and he would have exceeded the record of .9823 by Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians in 1947.

Shotgun Offense Inventor Turns In Resignation

Says He Stepped Down To Avoid 'Embarrassment'

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Red Hickey resigned as coach of the San Francisco Forty Niners Monday and Jack Christiansen, one of his coaching aides for the past four years, was named as his successor.

Hickey, the man who introduced the short-lived "shot-gun" attack into professional football, said he was resigning so that he "wouldn't embarrass the owners of the Forty Niners."

"I have too much respect for the club and for the owners to stick around until they have to tell me that I've had it," said Hickey after the resignation.

The club has lost all three league games this year, dropping two games to Minnesota and one to Baltimore. It also lost all of its five exhibition games, plus two at the close of last season—running the loss streak to 10 in a row.

Christiansen Builds Defense

Christiansen, 34, gained fame in the defensive secondary of the Detroit Lions in the mid-1950s as a part of the fabled "Chris' Crew." He joined the Forty Niners in 1959 and immediately built up a fine defensive secondary for that club, led by Abe Woodson and Eddie Dove.

Hickey, 46, came to the Forty Niners in 1955 from the Los Angeles Rams, where he had been a player and an assistant coach. He worked under the late Red Strader and then Frankie Albert before being named head coach in 1959.

"Football has been my life," he said after the resignation. "I'll never knock it. It was my ambition to become a head coach, and right now I'm just another unemployed head coach. But I hope to stay in the game."

Resignation Termed Necessary

Hickey said his resignation was a "necessary thing."

"We've lost all our games, but this team is a better club than it has been showing," he said. "I certainly hope the new coach can salvage something out of the season for the owners and for the fans."

The loyal fans of the Forty Niners have been following the club for 17 seasons hoping, without success, for some kind of a pennant.

The attendance always has averaged above 40,000 per game in recent years.

However, it dropped off to 30,000 per game for the first two league contests at home after all five exhibitions were lost. There was grumbling not only among the fans, but among some of the owners.

The complaints from the fans were that the Forty Niners in general and Hickey in particular, were doing a bad job in their trades. They swapped Y. A. Tittle to the New York Giants; sent Hugh McElhenny to Minnesota in the "stocking" program when the Vikings joined the league; and sent Joe Perry and R. C. Owens, who played out his option, to the Baltimore Colts.

In return for these men they got talent that didn't live up to expectations.

Injuries plagued the club this year, capped by a sore arm that has ruined quarterback John Brodie's passing.

NFL COACH RESIGNS—Red Hickey resigned as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers yesterday after the National Football League team's third straight loss of 1963. Jack Christiansen, former Detroit Lion defensive halfback and an assistant coach with the 49ers since 1959, was named to succeed Hickey. The "Redhead's" departure had been expected. (AP Photofax)

Indians Fire Harder, Coach For 36 Years

Tribe Gives Job To Early Wynn

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitching coach Mel Harder, whose 36 consecutive seasons with the Cleveland Indians was a tenure record in major league baseball, was fired Monday.

He will be succeeded next year by Early Wynn, a 43-year-old right-hander who won one game—the 300th of his major league career—while losing two with the Indians this season.

In announcing the switch, General Manager Gabe Paul gave no reason for terminating Harder's contract, but said he was grateful for the 53-year-old veteran's long service with the club.

There have been reports Paul was dissatisfied with the way Tribe pitchers have developed under Harder's tutelage. Paul has been general manager since April, 1961.

Harder joined the Indians in 1928 and compiled a 223-186 record in 20 seasons as a Tribe hurler. He was a player-coach in 1947, but had devoted full time to coaching since the 1948 season, when the Indians won the World Series. The Cleveland baseball writers selected him as the Indians' "man of the year" two years ago.

He said his release came as a surprise and that he was given no explanation.

Wynn joined the Indians in late May after the Chicago White Sox failed to renew his contract. His 300th victory was a 7-4 decision over the Kansas City Athletics on July 13.

Cleveland obtained Wynn in a trade with the Washington Senators in 1949 and traded him to the White Sox following the 1957 season.

He was a member of the "big four"—with Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia—who pitched the Indians to the American League pennant in 1954.

Hagerstown Fan Wins $19,449

HAGERSTOWN, (AP)—One racing fan put together a 6-2-5-2 combination Monday to gain a payoff of $19,449.60 for a $2 wager in the twin double at Hagerstown Race Course.

Track officials identified him only as being from Silver Spring, Md. They said the payoff surpassed the track's previous record of $12,087 for $2 made Sept. 12, 1962.

The bettor picked the winners of the fifth through eight races including a 7-1 shot, Love's Crown, in the eighth. The other horses were Music Sweet, who paid $5.80 in the fifth; Lady Bright, paying $12.40 in the sixth, and Cedar Patch, paying $6 in the seventh.

Lions' Gary Lowe Lost For Season

DETROIT (UPI) —Gary Lowe, one of the four "L's" in the tough Detroit Lion defensive secondary, is lost for the season.

Coach George Wilson said Monday that Lowe will be operated on at University Hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday to repair the Achilles tendon torn three inches above the ankle.

It was a freak injury suffered in Sunday's 37-21 loss to the Chicago Bears as he ran down the field following a play in the second period. It was not the result of a collision.

Lowe, 29, who played on two Michigan State Rose Bowl teams, was the fifth draft choice in 1956 of the Washington Redskins. He came to the Lions in 1957 as a free agent after being released by the Redskins.

Koufax Bothered By Slight Cold; Mantle And Maris Ready To Go

Bouton, Third Yankee Starter, Gets Workout

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk picked Whitey Ford and Al Downing to pitch the first two World Series games and gave Jim Bouton, his third starter, a workout Monday while the Los Angeles Dodgers were flying in for Wednesday's opener at Yankee Stadium.

Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers' strikeout ace who will face Ford in a most-important battle of left-handers in the opener, was bothered by a slight cold. Manager Walter Alston had planned to give his 25-game winner a short trial run in relief of Don Drysdale in the regular season finale but passed him up because Koufax was feeling sub par.

Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' fine bullpen stopper, also was feeling a bit shaky from the flu bug.

The Series could hinge on the outcome of the Ford-Koufax opener. If Sandy beats the cool Yankee veteran who always is at his best in October, Dodger hopes will brighten. In a best-of-7 series with a day off for travel after the second and fifth games, the first game starters can go three times. If Koufax fails, the 7½-5 odds favoring the Yanks will soar out of sight, and the American Le

AFL All-Star Game Set For January 5

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commissioner Joe Foss announced Monday that the American Football League's third annual post-season all-star game will be played in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, Jan. 5.

The game will be sponsored by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce and will be televised nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

Each all-star team will have 28 players and will be directed by the coaches of the 1963 division champions. The two previous games were won by the West all-stars and drew a total of approximately 48,000 fans.

Shotgun Offense Inventor Turns In Resignation

Says He Stepped Down To Avoid 'Embarrassment'

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Red Hickey resigned as coach of the San Francisco Forty Niners Monday and Jack Christiansen, one of his coaching aides for the past four years, was named as his successor.

Hickey, the man who introduced the short-lived "shot-gun" attack into professional football, said he was resigning so that he "wouldn't embarrass the owners of the Forty Niners."

"I have too much respect for the club and for the owners to stick around until they have to tell me that I've had it," said Hickey after the resignation.

The club has lost all three league games this year, dropping two games to Minnesota and one to Baltimore. It also lost all of its five exhibition games, plus two at the close of last season—running the loss streak to 10 in a row.

Christiansen Builds Defense

Christiansen, 34, gained fame in the defensive secondary of the Detroit Lions in the mid-1950s as a part of the fabled "Chris' Crew." He joined the Forty Niners in 1959 and immediately built up a fine defensive secondary for that club, led by Abe Woodson and Eddie Dove.

Hickey, 46, came to the Forty Niners in 1955 from the Los Angeles Rams, where he had been a player and an assistant coach. He worked under the late Red Strader and then Frankie Albert before being named head coach in 1959.

"Football has been my life," he said after the resignation. "I'll never knock it. It was my ambition to become a head coach, and right now I'm just another unemployed head coach. But I hope to stay in the game."

Resignation Termed Necessary

Hickey said his resignation was a "necessary thing."

"We've lost all our games, but this team is a better club than it has been showing," he said. "I certainly hope the new coach can salvage something out of the season for the owners and for the fans."

The loyal fans of the Forty Niners have been following the club for 17 seasons hoping, without success, for some kind of a pennant.

The attendance always has averaged above 40,000 per game in recent years.

However, it dropped off to 30,000 per game for the first two league contests at home after all five exhibitions were lost. There was grumbling not only among the fans, but among some of the owners.

The complaints from the fans were that the Forty Niners in general and Hickey in particular, were doing a bad job in their trades. They swapped Y. A. Tittle to the New York Giants; sent Hugh McElhenny to Minnesota in the "stocking" program when the Vikings joined the league; and sent Joe Perry and R. C. Owens, who played out his option, to the Baltimore Colts.

In return for these men they got talent that didn't live up to expectations.

Injuries plagued the club this year, capped by a sore arm that has ruined quarterback John Brodie's passing.

Sugar Ray Arrives In Paris For Fight

PARIS (UPI)—All-time boxing great Sugar Ray Robinson arrived Monday to prepare for his Oct. 14 fight with Corsican Armand Vanucci.

The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds at the Paris Palais-des Sports. Robinson's manager, George Gainsford, says it is possible Robinson will stay in Europe for three or four months.

NFL COACH RESIGNS—Red Hickey resigned as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers yesterday after the National Football League team's third straight loss of 1963. Jack Christiansen, former Detroit Lion defensive halfback and an assistant coach with the 49ers since 1959, was named to succeed Hickey. The "Redhead's" departure had been expected. (AP Photofax)

Indians Fire Harder, Coach For 36 Years

Tribe Gives Job To Early Wynn

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pitching coach Mel Harder, whose 36 consecutive seasons with the Cleveland Indians was a tenure record in major league baseball, was fired Monday.

He will be succeeded next year by Early Wynn, a 43-year-old right-hander who won one game—the 300th of his major league career—while losing two with the Indians this season.

In announcing the switch, General Manager Gabe Paul gave no reason for terminating Harder's contract, but said he was grateful for the 53-year-old veteran's long service with the club.

There have been reports Paul was dissatisfied with the way Tribe pitchers have developed under Harder's tutelage. Paul has been general manager since April, 1961.

Harder joined the Indians in 1928 and compiled a 223-186 record in 20 seasons as a Tribe hurler. He was a player-coach in 1947, but had devoted full time to coaching since the 1948 season, when the Indians won the World Series. The Cleveland baseball writers selected him as the Indians' "man of the year" two years ago.

He said his release came as a surprise and that he was given no explanation.

Wynn joined the Indians in late May after the Chicago White Sox failed to renew his contract. His 300th victory was a 7-4 decision over the Kansas City Athletics on July 13.

Cleveland obtained Wynn in a trade with the Washington Senators in 1949 and traded him to the White Sox following the 1957 season.

He was a member of the "big four"—with Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia—who pitched the Indians to the American League pennant in 1954.

Lions' Gary Lowe Lost For Season

DETROIT (UPI) —Gary Lowe, one of the four "L's" in the tough Detroit Lion defensive secondary, is lost for the season.

Coach George Wilson said Monday that Lowe will be operated on at University Hospital in Ann Arbor Tuesday to repair the Achilles tendon torn three inches above the ankle.

It was a freak injury suffered in Sunday's 37-21 loss to the Chicago Bears as he ran down the field following a play in the second period. It was not the result of a collision.

Lowe, 29, who played on two Michigan State Rose Bowl teams, was the fifth draft choice in 1956 of the Washington Redskins. He came to the Lions in 1957 as a free agent after being released by the Redskins.

Conrad To Vie For First Flight Title

Harold Conrad Jr. advanced to the finals in the first flight of the men's fall golf tournament at Maplehurst Country Club yesterday by defeating George Moody, 4 and 3. He will meet Jim Reidler for the first flight championship.

Maplehurst pro Bob Mackintosh announced yesterday that members of the men's golf association desiring to play in the Presidents-Vice Presidents tournament on Sunday must register at the golf shop by tomorrow.

Hagerstown Fan Wins $19,449

HAGERSTOWN, (AP)—One racing fan put together a 6-2-5-2 combination Monday to gain a payoff of $19,449.60 for a $2 wager in the twin double at Hagerstown Race Course.

Track officials identified him only as being from Silver Spring, Md. They said the payoff surpassed the track's previous record of $12,087 for $2 made Sept. 12, 1962.

The bettor picked the winners of the fifth through eight races including a 7-1 shot, Love's Crown, in the eighth. The other horses were Music Sweet, who paid $5.80 in the fifth; Lady Bright, paying $12.40 in the sixth, and Cedar Patch, paying $6 in the seventh.

Koufax Bothered By Slight Cold; Mantle And Maris Ready To Go

Bouton, Third Yankee Starter, Gets Workout

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk picked Whitey Ford and Al Downing to pitch the first two World Series games and gave Jim Bouton, his third starter, a workout Monday while the Los Angeles Dodgers were flying in for Wednesday's opener at Yankee Stadium.

Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers' strikeout ace who will face Ford in a most-important battle of left-handers in the opener, was bothered by a slight cold. Manager Walter Alston had planned to give his 25-game winner a short trial run in relief of Don Drysdale in the regular season finale but passed him up because Koufax was feeling sub par.

Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' fine bullpen stopper, also was feeling a bit shaky from the flu bug.

The Series could hinge on the outcome of the Ford-Koufax opener. If Sandy beats the cool Yankee veteran who always is at his best in October, Dodger hopes will brighten. In a best-of-7 series with a day off for travel after the second and fifth games, the first game starters can go three times. If Koufax fails, the 7½-5 odds favoring the Yanks will soar out of sight, and the American Leaguers might romp.

The long range weather forecast called for a fair, mild day with no rain in sight.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, who missed a good share of the season, were back in action and ready to go. Houk had the regular cast lined up for action with Tom Tresh joining the M&M boys in the outfield and the fine defensive infield of Joe Pepitone, Bobby Richardson, Tony Kubek and Clete Boyer plus Elston Howard as catcher.

The Dodgers still were awaiting final word on the physical condition of Ken McMullen, their rookie third baseman who suffered a pulled hamstring muscle Thursday. Alston was optimistic about his chances of playing.

In case McMullen can not make it, the Dodgers will shift Junior Gilliam to third base and use Dick Tracewski, a .226-hitting reserve infielder, at second. McMullen, optioned to Spokane in May, was recalled in late June and wound up with a .236 average that included five homers and 28 runs batted in. During the regular season when Alston was nursing a lead in the late innings, he often brought in Tracewski, a smooth fielder, at second or short.

Before the Dodgers left Los Angeles Monday afternoon, Alston confirmed Koufax as his No. 1 starter. He said Johnny Podres, another lefty, probably will start the second "unless I have a brainstorm and use someone else."

Podres' last outing Saturday night easily could provoke a "brainstorm" in any manager. The veteran was racked up for eight runs and 12 hits in 1 2-3 innings by the Phillies. "I had wanted him to go five or six innings," said Alston, "but it got so embarrassing that I had to take him out."

All managers prefer to use left-handed pitchers at Yankee Stadium because the contours of the park in the Bronx with its short right field distance, favors left-handed batters. A right-handed hitter can reach the lower deck in right field with a 296-foot slice.

Because of their late arrival time, the Dodgers took no workout Monday. They will test the stadium shadows and tricky wind currents Tuesday afternoon under game time conditions. This is a courtesy, customarily extended to the visiting team. The Yanks will

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother Madelyn Grace Faidley. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.
Robert Faidley & Family

I wish to take this means of thanking Rev. Demanth Blanton, pastor, the congregation of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church and the many friends for all their kindnesses shown Miss Annie Gatehouse during the last several years preceding her death.
Her niece, Sarah Edwards Stene

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edwin M. (Eddie) Reed who passed away nine years ago, October 1st, 1954.
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.
Mother, Wife, Children
Sadly missed by his
and Sisters

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother Madelyn Grace Faidley. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

Robert Faidley & Family

I wish to take this means of thanking Rev. Demanth Blanton, pastor, the congregation of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church and the many friends for all their kindnesses shown Miss Annie Gatehouse during the last several years preceding her death.

Her niece, Sarah Edwards Stene

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edwin M. (Eddie) Reed who passed away nine years ago, October 1st, 1954.

More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.

Mother, Wife, Children
Sadly missed by his
and Sisters

Westernport Fire Under Investigation

Garage, Legion Home Damaged

Authorities are investigating a fire which last night damaged a garage building and the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion in Westernport.

Paul Michael, fire chief of the Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, called Jesse Jacobs, fire marshall, who resides in Frostburg, to conduct an investigation.

Mr. Jacobs was on the scene last night and will continue his probe today, according to Fire Chief Michael who said the fire occurred about 5:25 p. m.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, said the fire chief. The fire was extinguished by members of the Volunteer fire company of Westernport and Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 of Piedmont.

The blaze originated in the garage building owned by R. C. Roberts who used it for storage purposes. The heat from the flames caused a number of panes of glass to crack in the Legion Home located nearby.

Insulation on wiring to the Legion Home also was burned by the blaze, firemen said. The volunteers were at the scene for about two hours.

Magistrates Plan Meetings For Fiscal Year

The Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland will hold its annual fall luncheon meeting at Black Steer Restaurant in Charlotte Hall at noon Saturday, October 19.

Paul Bailey, a member of the State Roads Commission, will be the speaker.

Harry Lancaster of St. Mary's County, chairman, has arranged an afternoon tour for members and their guests of the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center.

According to Ralph C. Boyd, president of the association, plans were completed at an executive meeting in Baltimore recently. The executive committee, which includes Magistrates F. Allan Weatherholt, city, and Thomas G. Barton, Cresaptown, representing Western Maryland, also decided on other activities for the fiscal year.

Magistrate Boyd stated that the winter meeting is to be held in Cecil County on January 18, 1964. The annual banquet will be held in Baltimore on March 14, 1964, the spring meeting will be held in Cumberland on April 25 and the annual convention will be held in Ocean City next June 26-28.

Men Appeal Hunting Fines

Two young Spring Gap men yesterday appealed heavy fines imposed on game violations at a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

George G. Humbertson, 20, was fined $100 by Magistrate Leslie J. Clark for spotlighting with a firearm in his possession, $20 for having a loaded rifle in his vehicle and $20 for hunting deer on Sunday.

Magistrate Clark also fined Ronald M. Steele, 24, $100 for spotlighting with a rifle in his possession and $20 for hunting on Sunday.

Both men were arrested Sunday by Game Warden Joseph J. Keating in Miller's Orchard on Martin Mountain.

235 Marriage Licenses Issued In September

Some 235 marriage licenses were issued during September in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Annual Cooking School Will Open October 22

Preparations are under way for the annual Times-News Cooking School which opens October 22 at the Strand Theatre.

For the second year the school will open with an evening class for the convenience of 9 to 5 workers and for men interested in learning a few culinary secrets. An afternoon and two morning session also are scheduled.

Les Ford, a member of the Times-News advertising staff, will again emcee all sessions of the cooking school which is offered in conjunction with the National Live Stock and Meat Board of Chicago.

Other participating firms are Queen City Cooperative Dairy, Inc., Community Baking Company, Potomac Edison Company, Harold's Kitchens and Furniture Manufacturers Inc., Cumberland Electric Company, and Rosenbaum's. These sponsors have been associated with the school for many years.

Mr. Ford will assist Miss Ann Norman and Miss Sandra Sime, field home economists for the Meat Board, who will be making their first appearance as lecturers for the Times-News school.

They will prepare some 40 new and different recipes during the four-day "Spotlight on Foods" spectacular.

The demonstrations, presented in an entertaining as well as educational way for area homemakers, will be supplemented by distributions of a free Spotlight on Foods recipe book which contains all of the recipes prepared by Miss Norman and Miss Simes during the cooking school.

In addition, food dishes prepared during each day's program, as well as other prizes, will be awarded to members of the audience.

At the final sessions many valuable prizes will be awarded in addition to the food dishes.

The schedule for the school follows: Opening night, Tuesday, October 22, 7:30 p. m.; Wednesday, 1:30 p. m.; Thursday and Friday, 9:15 a. m.

SRC Forces Get Ready For Winter

Equipment Is Put In Top Condition

With memories of three rough winters still fresh in their minds, State Roads Commission forces in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties are completing preparations for this year's battle against ice and snow.

John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, reports that all of the district's snow-battling equipment has been put in top shape and that supplies of chemicals and abrasives are on order and will be delivered this month.

Adequate supplies of both are on hand, he added, if the first of the winter's storms starts moving into the mountains of Western Maryland this month.

Last year, the first snowstorms of the season blew into Allegany and Gerrett counties during October, depositing five and one-half inches of snow in Garrett and four in Allegany County.

Mr. Bushby said the State Roads Commission has about 102 pieces of motorized equipment which can be thrown into action as soon as ice or snow hits in District 6.

Scatter Chemicals

The snow-moving equipment includes 36 pieces in Allegany County, 34 in Garrett County and 32 in Washington County.

It includes, in each county, two or more big road graders equipped with 12-foot blades and 10-foot wing blades to throw snow to the sides of the road.

Each county also has several powerful four-wheel-drive trucks equipped with blade and wings, plus big dump trucks equipped with 10 or 12-foot blades.

Seven big power hopper spreaders are used in the three-county district to scatter chemicals and abrasives on the highways. Allegany and Garrett has two each of the hopper spreaders and three are used in Washington County.

Available for use in the district is a rotary snow plow which is stationed in Oakland. Several other rotary plows are used in the state and are moved to wherever they are needed most.

Fences Go Up

Snow fences are being erected this month in Garrett County and will be put up in Allegany and Washington counties later this month.

The amount of fence varies from year to year, but is growing less as highway construction standards are boosted to provide plenty of room to push the snow.

Records kept at the District 6 office here show that 36 storms swept into Allegany County during the 1962-1963 winter season, depositing 95.5 inches of snow.

One of the worst was the 1961-1962 winter season, when 50 snow storms blew in and dropped 103.25 inches of snow.

Fewer storms, 41, marked the 1960-1961 winter, but the snowfall totaled 147 inches of snow.

Garrett County had 20 storms last winter, with 132-75 inches of snow. During the 1961-1962 season, there were 49 storms and 111.25 inches of snow. The biggest snows in recent years fell in the 1960-1961 season, when 45 storms dumped a total of 163 inches of snow in the mountains.

Washington County weather is usually less rough than in the more rugged Allegany and Garrett counties. Records show that that county had 20 storms last winter, with only 67 inches of snow. The 1961-1962 season was marked by 20 storms and 67.25 inches of snow and in 1960-1961, when 147 inches fell in Allegany and 163 in Garrett, 111.25 inches of snow fell in Washington County.

Cancer Survey Kits Ready For Workers

Research volunteers for the fourth annual Cancer Prevention Study in Allegany County may pick up their kits at the office of Allegany County Chapter, American Cancer Society, office, 128 Union Street, beginning today.

Some 121 researchers will conduct the survey which gets under way nationally today. Mrs. Jean Cioni said the kits, including questionnaire, cards and instruction sheets have been prepared by volunteer workers.

Fire Company To Meet Tomorrow

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the fire hall to vote on holding a weekly benefit.

Leonard Merritt, 15, of RD 4, Oldtown Road, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday with an injured right wrist he received in a fall at Fort Hill High School.

Baby Sitters Training Course Will Be Held

The Cumberland Recreation Department will open its annual Baby Sitters training course on Monday, October 7, at 4 p. m. in City Hall.

Notices of the class have been mailed by the department to all schools which enroll high school and eighth grade girls, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director.

The course will include instruction on proper feeding, a demonstration of bathing a baby by a registered nurse, a simple first-aid period taught by a qualified Red Cross instructor and a class on games and crafts which can be used for little ones.

Mrs. Hogan said the instruction will be offered in a series of six lessons and that girls must attend each lesson to get a certificate.

Only girls who are certified will be listed on the 1964 Baby Sitter's List which will be included in the 1964 Baby Sitter list which will be prepared by the department in January.

Mrs. Hogan said girls who were on the 1962-1963 list need not repeat the course but must notify the department if they wish to be on the 1964 list.

Adult baby sitters are invited to attend any or all of the classes, the department said, but are not required to do so.

The Rec Department began offering a brief training course for baby sitters in 1956 and two years ago extended the course to six lessons and made attendance mandatory for teen-age sitters.

City Expects Banner Year In Building

A banner construction year is in progress here and it is virtually certain that building permits issued in 1963 will exceed the $3 million mark.

Permits issued by the City of Cumberland during September totaled $1,867,200 and brought the total for the first three quarters to $2,973,527.

The biggest item in the September permits was one for the construction of the $1,767,000 North End Junior High School which is being built at Holland and Franklin streets.

The September permits included six permits for dwellings with a total value of $82,500. Other permits were issued for a residential garage at $1,000, a swimming pool at $3,100, an automobile repair garage at $10,500, three additions to residences at $1,400, a carport at $1,000 and $70 improvement to a residence.

The permits included 12 for new construction estimated by builders to cost $1,864,100 and five for additions and improvements costing $3,100.

Last year's permits totaled $2,392,126, a good construction year. Recent years totals include $1,252,994 in 1961, $2,505,250 in 1960, $1,610,062 in 1959 and $2,740,727 in 1958.

Former Local Resident Writes For NEA Journal

A one-time resident of Cumberland who has devoted his life to public education has written a significant article on vocational education in the October issue of the NEA Journal, the monthly magazine of 860,000 members of the National Education Association.

He is J. Chester Swanson, a 1921 graduate of Allegany High School, who received his undergraduate education at the University of Richmond. He is now a professor of education at the University of California, Berkeley.

For today, Mr. Swanson emphasizes, problems of unemployment and economic competition are so great that vocational education has become a basic tool to solve them.

The former resident of Cumberland says that the larger schools, as a while, are doing a better job of vocational education than the smaller ones. He cites a recent survey to show that more than 30 per cent of the larger high schools offer trade and shop courses while only two per cent of the small schools do.

But job training in the schools must grow, Mr. Swanson says. He points out that not only has technological development increased the number of jobs open only to the highly trained, but automation has taken its toll in replacing the less-skilled workers.

He concludes:

"American high schools ought to do as much for students who are preparing to go to work as they do for the ones who are getting ready for college. Today, vocational education is more than an educational ideal or a sociological goal. It is a necessity, basic to economic survival in a world where industrial competition and ideological conflict are wide-spread and tense."

His sister, Miss Grace Swanson, was a resource music teacher in the elementary schools of Allegany County until her retirement in 1959. Her teaching career spanned 37 years.

Beall Party May Draw Big Crowd

BALTIMORE (AP) — A capacity crowd of 1,000 friends of Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., will attend a testimonial to him Tuesday night, the sponsors said Monday.

Lewis J. Ort of Cumberland and Raymond A. DuFour of Kenwood, two of the friends who are sponsoring the dinner, said:

"This affair is a personal party for a grand guy and we have been swamped by people throughout Maryland who want to participate."

Many Republican bigwigs have shied away from attending, however, because of the possible political implications.

Sen. Beall is planning to seek nomination for a third term next year. He is expected to be challenged seriously by Charles McC. Mathias, two-term GOP representative from Western Maryland.

Beall, who now is 69, served five terms in the House from the same district before going to the Senate.

The cost of a ticket to the Beall testimonial — $100 — prompted many Republican leaders to label it a campaign fund raising affair instead of a personal tribute.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota will be guest speaker at the testimonial.

Two Attending Session On Colleges

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College, and Everett G. Partridge, director of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company, are attending a special conference at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on federal programs and the junior colleges.

The meeting of approximately 100 presidents and other officials of the colleges is sponsored by the American Association of Junior Colleges. Government officials will discuss programs of government assistance open to junior and community colleges.

Two new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Charles I. Snow vs. Shirley Ann Snow and Harry F. Boore vs. Evelyn G. Boore.

The picture was taken from near the corner of the tennis courts along the street. They will be replaced by the school but will be reconstructed at a lower level in front of the building and near Stitcher Field. The 25-acre tract for the school was deeded to the County Board of Education by the county commissioners. The county garage, located on part of the area, will be moved to near Cresaptown. Construction is expected to be completed in the winter of 1965. Another junior high school is being planned in the South End to relieve congestion at Fort Hill High School.

Judge Will Order Specific Performance

LaVale Drug Store Dispute Is Aired

At the close of an all-day equity hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill of Oakland said he would sign an order within two or three days requiring specific performance in the disposal of certain stock of LaVale Drug Store, Inc., 1068 National Highway.

The two surviving owners of stock in the drug store, Robert P. Stotler and Robert J. Martin, were the only witnesses in the long hearing.

Mr. Stotler, former manager of the LaVale Drug Store and now the operator of a competitive drug store in LaVale, was the plaintiff in yesterday's action. The defense attorneys called Mr. Martin as their only witness.

Agreement Introduced

On July 26, 1956, Mr. Stotler, Mr. Martin and the latter's father, Lester R. Martin, signed an agreement which was introduced as evidence. Lester R. Martin, who died January 2, owned 52 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the corporation. His son and Mr. Stotler owned 24 per cent each.

This 1956 agreement provided that in the event of the death of any of the three stockholders, the corporation should purchase from the estate of the deceased all of his stock.

Mr. Stotler charged in his bill of complaint filed May 3 that subsequent to the death of Lester R. Martin no action was taken by the defendants to order an audit or purchase the stock of the decedent from his estate.

In his bill of complaint, Mr. Stotler had asked that a receiver be appointed to enforce the 1956 contract.

The LaVale Drug Store, Inc., through attorneys C. William Gilchrist and Gorman E. Getty, argued that there is no need for a receiver as the company is a prospering business and there is no question of mismanagement in its operation.

Judge Hamill, in his comments from the bench, said that he did not now expect to appoint a receiver for the firm.

Capital Of $9,000

In his testimony, Mr. Martin said that at the time the 1956 agreement was signed the LaVale Drug Store operated in a leased building and had capital of about $9,000. The firm now owns its own building which is financed by a mortgage on which $76,000 is still outstanding. Payments of $1,207 a month are made on the mortgage. The net worth of the company as of April 30, according to its financial statement, is $67,907.80.

Rent totaling $611 a month, including $320 from the State Department of Forests and Parks, is paid on the property.

Claire O. Ducker of Washington, one of Mr. Stotler's attorneys, contended that his client should not be penalized because the business is more valuable today than it was at the time of the contract. He argued that much of the improvement was the result of Mr. Stotler's efforts.

The plaintiff some time ago was fired from his position as manager of the LaVale store and then started the business bearing his name as a competitor.

Mr. Stotler was represented by Attorneys Ducker, John M. Robb, this city, and Franklin L. Carroll of Falls Church, Va., formerly of Cumberland.

1,123 Md. Boats At Deep Creek

A total of 1,123 of Maryland's registered boats have their home ports at Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County, according to a report by William B. Matthews Jr., chief of the Boating and Recreation Division of the Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

These boats are classified under boats on non-tidal waters, which total 2,061 or 4.6 per cent of all registered Maryland boats.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that all undocumented vessels, both pleasure and commercial, must register if they are propelled by machinery of more than 7½ h.p. or are 25 feet in length or more and propelled by sail alone.

Westernport Fire Under Investigation

Garage, Legion Home Damaged

Authorities are investigating a fire which last night damaged a garage building and the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion in Westernport.

Paul Michael, fire chief of the Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, called Jesse Jacobs, fire marshall, who resides in Frostburg, to conduct an investigation.

Mr. Jacobs was on the scene last night and will continue his probe today, according to Fire Chief Michael who said the fire occurred about 5:25 p. m.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, said the fire chief. The fire was extinguished by members of the Volunteer fire company of Westernport and Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 of Piedmont.

The blaze originated in the garage building owned by R. C. Roberts who used it for storage purposes. The heat from the flames caused a number of panes of glass to crack in the Legion Home located nearby.

Insulation on wiring to the Legion Home also was burned by the blaze, firemen said. The volunteers were at the scene for about two hours.

SRC Forces Get Ready For Winter

Equipment Is Put In Top Condition

With memories of three rough winters still fresh in their minds, State Roads Commission forces in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties are completing preparations for this year's battle against ice and snow.

John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer, reports that all of the district's snow-battling equipment has been put in top shape and that supplies of chemicals and abrasives are on order and will be delivered this month.

Adequate supplies of both are on hand, he added, if the first of the winter's storms starts moving into the mountains of Western Maryland this month.

Last year, the first snowstorms of the season blew into Allegany and Gerrett counties during October, depositing five and one-half inches of snow in Garrett and four in Allegany County.

Mr. Bushby said the State Roads Commission has about 102 pieces of motorized equipment which can be thrown into action as soon as ice or snow hits in District 6.

Scatter Chemicals

The snow-moving equipment includes 36 pieces in Allegany County, 34 in Garrett County and 32 in Washington County.

It includes, in each county, two or more big road graders equipped with 12-foot blades and 10-foot wing blades to throw snow to the sides of the road.

Each county also has several powerful four-wheel-drive trucks equipped with blade and wings, plus big dump trucks equipped with 10 or 12-foot blades.

Seven big power hopper spreaders are used in the three-county district to scatter chemicals and abrasives on the highways. Allegany and Garrett has two each of the hopper spreaders and three are used in Washington County.

Available for use in the district is a rotary snow plow which is stationed in Oakland. Several other rotary plows are used in the state and are moved to wherever they are needed most.

Fences Go Up

Snow fences are being erected this month in Garrett County and will be put up in Allegany and Washington counties later this month.

The amount of fence varies from year to year, but is growing less as highway construction standards are boosted to provide plenty of room to push the snow.

The three past winters have been rough ones in this area.

Records kept at the District 6 office here show that 36 storms swept into Allegany County during the 1962-1963 winter season, depositing 95.5 inches of snow.

One of the worst was the 1961-1962 winter season, when 50 snow storms blew in and dropped 103.25 inches of snow.

Fewer storms, 41, marked the 1960-1961 winter, but the snowfall totaled 147 inches of snow.

Garrett County had 20 storms last winter, with 132-75 inches of snow. During the 1961-1962 season, there were 49 storms and 111.25 inches of snow. The biggest snows in recent years fell in the 1960-1961 season, when 45 storms dumped a total of 163 inches of snow in the mountains.

Washington County weather is usually less rough than in the more rugged Allegany and Garrett counties. Records show that that county had 20 storms last winter, with only 67 inches of snow. The 1961-1962 season was marked by 20 storms and 67.25 inches of snow and in 1960-1961, when 147 inches fell in Allegany and 163 in Garrett, 111.25 inches of snow fell in Washington County.

Baby Sitters Training Course Will Be Held

The Cumberland Recreation Department will open its annual Baby Sitters training course on Monday, October 7, at 4 p. m. in City Hall.

Notices of the class have been mailed by the department to all schools which enroll high school and eighth grade girls, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director.

The course will include instruction on proper feeding, a demonstration of bathing a baby by a registered nurse, a simple first-aid period taught by a qualified Red Cross instructor and a class on games and crafts which can be used for little ones.

Mrs. Hogan said the instruction will be offered in a series of six lessons and that girls must attend each lesson to get a certificate.

Only girls who are certified will be listed on the 1964 Baby Sitter's List which will be included in the 1964 Baby Sitter list which will be prepared by the department in January.

Mrs. Hogan said girls who were on the 1962-1963 list need not repeat the course but must notify the department if they wish to be on the 1964 list.

Adult baby sitters are invited to attend any or all of the classes, the department said, but are not required to do so.

The Rec Department began offering a brief training course for baby sitters in 1956 and two years ago extended the course to six lessons and made attendance mandatory for teen-age sitters.

Former Local Resident Writes For NEA Journal

A one-time resident of Cumberland who has devoted his life to public education has written a significant article on vocational education in the October issue of the NEA Journal, the monthly magazine of 860,000 members of the National Education Association.

He is J. Chester Swanson, a 1921 graduate of Allegany High School, who received his undergraduate education at the University of Richmond. He is now a professor of education at the University of California, Berkeley.

For today, Mr. Swanson emphasizes, problems of unemployment and economic competition are so great that vocational education has become a basic tool to solve them.

The former resident of Cumberland says that the larger schools, as a while, are doing a better job of vocational education than the smaller ones. He cites a recent survey to show that more than 30 per cent of the larger high schools offer trade and shop courses while only two per cent of the small schools do.

But job training in the schools must grow, Mr. Swanson says. He points out that not only has technological development increased the number of jobs open only to the highly trained, but automation has taken its toll in replacing the less-skilled workers.

He concludes:

"American high schools ought to do as much for students who are preparing to go to work as they do for the ones who are getting ready for college. Today, vocational education is more than an educational ideal or a sociological goal. It is a necessity, basic to economic survival in a world where industrial competition and ideological conflict are wide-spread and tense."

His sister, Miss Grace Swanson, was a resource music teacher in the elementary schools of Allegany County until her retirement in 1959. Her teaching career spanned 37 years.

Judge Will Order Specific Performance

LaVale Drug Store Dispute Is Aired

At the close of an all-day equity hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill of Oakland said he would sign an order within two or three days requiring specific performance in the disposal of certain stock of LaVale Drug Store, Inc., 1068 National Highway.

The two surviving owners of stock in the drug store, Robert P. Stotler and Robert J. Martin, were the only witnesses in the long hearing.

Mr. Stotler, former manager of the LaVale Drug Store and now the operator of a competitive drug store in LaVale, was the plaintiff in yesterday's action. The defense attorneys called Mr. Martin as their only witness.

Agreement Introduced

On July 26, 1956, Mr. Stotler, Mr. Martin and the latter's father, Lester R. Martin, signed an agreement which was introduced as evidence. Lester R. Martin, who died January 2, owned 52 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the corporation. His son and Mr. Stotler owned 24 per cent each.

This 1956 agreement provided that in the event of the death of any of the three stockholders, the corporation should purchase from the estate of the deceased all of his stock.

Mr. Stotler charged in his bill of complaint filed May 3 that subsequent to the death of Lester R. Martin no action was taken by the defendants to order an audit or purchase the stock of the decedent from his estate.

In his bill of complaint, Mr. Stotler had asked that a receiver be appointed to enforce the 1956 contract.

The LaVale Drug Store, Inc., through attorneys C. William Gilchrist and Gorman E. Getty, argued that there is no need for a receiver as the company is a prospering business and there is no question of mismanagement in its operation.

Judge Hamill, in his comments from the bench, said that he did not now expect to appoint a receiver for the firm.

Capital Of $9,000

In his testimony, Mr. Martin said that at the time the 1956 agreement was signed the LaVale Drug Store operated in a leased building and had capital of about $9,000. The firm now owns its own building which is financed by a mortgage on which $76,000 is still outstanding. Payments of $1,207 a month are made on the mortgage. The net worth of the company as of April 30, according to its financial statement, is $67,907.80.

Rent totaling $611 a month, including $320 from the State Department of Forests and Parks, is paid on the property.

Claire O. Ducker of Washington, one of Mr. Stotler's attorneys, contended that his client should not be penalized because the business is more valuable today than it was at the time of the contract. He argued that much of the improvement was the result of Mr. Stotler's efforts.

The plaintiff some time ago was fired from his position as manager of the LaVale store and then started the business bearing his name as a competitor.

Mr. Stotler was represented by Attorneys Ducker, John M. Robb, this city, and Franklin L. Carroll of Falls Church, Va., formerly of Cumberland.

These boats are classified under boats on non-tidal waters, which total 2,061 or 4.6 per cent of all registered Maryland boats.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that all undocumented vessels, both pleasure and commercial, must register if they are propelled by machinery of more than 7½ h.p. or are 25 feet in length or more and propelled by sail alone.
